JFK Predicts Space Lead

Khrush Threat Of War Over Cuba Won't Intimidate U.S., Rusk Says

Kremlin Blasts JFK's Reserve Callup Request

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union promised again Monday to defend Cuba with rockets and warned the United States an armed attack on the Marxist outpost in the Caribbean would plunge the world into a nuclear war.

The tough Kremlin statement denounced as provocative President Kennedy's request to Congress for authority to call up 150,000 Reserves and linked the move with preparations "for agression against Cuba and other peace-loving states."

"Such a step by the U.S. government cannot be assessed otherwise than a screen for aggressive plans and intentions of the United States itself and will inevitably lead to aggravating the international atmosphere," said the statement.

No Need For Cuba Bases

The Soviets denied they were building a military base in Cuba, and declared they have such powerful rockets to carry nuclear warheads that "there is no need to search for sites for them beyond the boundaries of the Soviet Union."

The arms being sent Fidel Castro's regime were "exclusively for defense purposes" the Soviets said. They chided Americans for being "afraid of your own shadow."

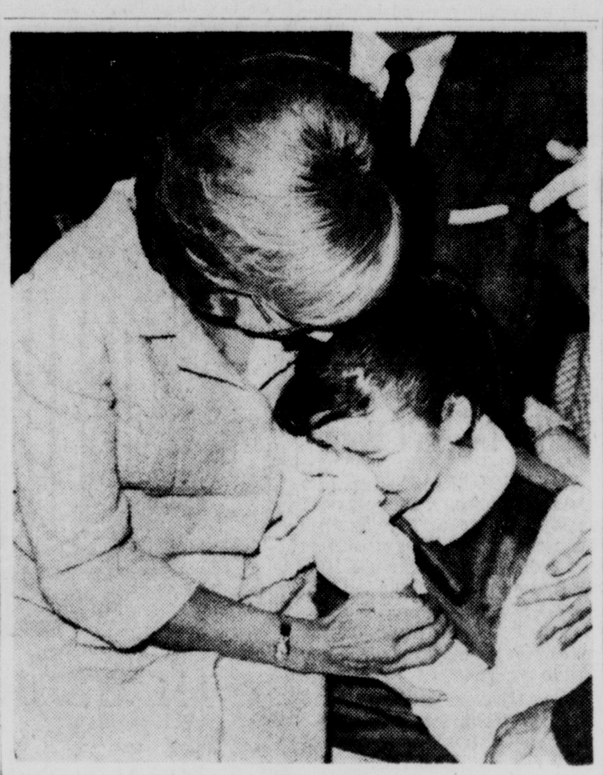

The lengthy statement read at a Foreign Ministry news conference ranged over the whole international field—and raised again calls for a German peace treaty and complete world disarmament on Moscow terms.

Berlin Offer Conciliatory?

Premier Khrushchev has made strong promises before to defend Cuba but Tuesday's statement was the strongest yet. In July 1960, Khrushchev said "figuratively speaking" Soviet artillerymen could support Cuba with rocket fire. The Soviet news agency Tass said the premier meant his talk about rockets "to be symbolic." In September 1961 he said Cuba could count on help of all "peace-loving nations" if the island were attacked.

The Kremlin statement, as issued by Tass, expressed willingness to wait until after the U.S. congressional elections in November before resuming talks on the Berlin crisis.

This apparently conciliatory offer was omitted from the statement as read by Vladimir Popov, deputy foreign ministry press chief, at the news conference.

N. H. GOP Senatorial Race Nip-And-Tuck

By The Associated Press

New Hampshire Republicans staged a hot, tight, seesaw senatorial primary Tuesday night and scented a possible upset in the balloting for a nominee for governor.

Rep. Perkins Bass and Doloris Bridges were locked in a tough scrap for the Senate nomination for the remainder of the term of Mrs. Bridges' late husband, Styles Bridges. Appointive Sen. Maurice J. Murphy made a strong showing, too.

Another congressman, Rep. Chester E. Merrow, was the fourth entry in a free-for-all.

Gov. Wesley Powell, trying for a third two-year term, was finding tough going in the primary against Bridges' protege, John Pillsbury.

With a third of the unofficial tally in, from 100 of 302 wards and towns, the standings read this way:

For the Republican senatorial nomination:

Bass 5,938
Bridges 5,849
Murphy 4,953
Merrow 2,820

For the GOP gubernatorial nomination:

Pillsbury 10,826
Powell 8,461

In the first flurry of vote counting, Murphy and Powell stepped out ahead, with the help of substantial nudges from their home bases.

Next door in Vermont a smashing upset gave the Democratic Senate nomination to Brattleboro businessman W. Robert Johnson. He downed former Rep. William H. Meyer, the first Democrat since Civil War times to serve the state in the U.S. House. Meyer won one term in 1958.

Johnson will oppose Republican Sen. George Aiken in the November general election. Aiken was unopposed in the Republican primary.

Nine states had primaries Tuesday. But the New Hampshire senatorial tussle was the prime attention getter. Thomas J. McIntyre was unopposed for the Democratic nomination.

Wisconsin Republicans also put on a close battle over the nomination for governor. Wilbur W. Renk, farmer and onetime Eisenhower campaign leader, held a small edge over former state GOP Chairman Philip G. Kuehn on the basis of early returns.

All told, the nation put on its biggest candidate-picking bee of the 1962 campaign. The voters got in their preferences for nominees for eight senate, six governor and 39 House seats.

The states involved: New Hampshire, Vermont, Rhode Island, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Utah, Washington, Arizona and Colorado.

Georgia will hold a primary Wednesday, and after that candidates will be chosen in Massachusetts, New York and Hawaii.

In Rhode Island, Democrat John A. Notte took a lead in skimpy initial returns in an effort to win renomination for a second term as governor.

Mother, Six Children Flee East Germany

BAD HERSFELD, Germany (AP)—A mother and her six children, ranging in ages from 2 to 18 years, escaped from East Germany in broad daylight, police said Tuesday.

The family escaped Sunday and was not spotted by Communist border guards. The father remained in East Germany.

Personal Income, Profits Of Corporations Hit Peak

WASHINGTON (AP) — Record corporate profits and personal income were reported Tuesday by Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges, who said business will remain good but not spectacular for the next six months.

Hodges told a news conference that profits of corporations reached an annual rate of $50.9 billion in the April-June quarter, up from $50.1 billion in the preceding three months. It so happened that it came at a time when the stock market suffered its sharp break.

Personal income—the total income of all individual Americans—increased by $900 million to a peak annual rate of $442.8 billion in August. The gain was marred somewhat, however, by a decline in manufacturing payrolls.

Hodges said the new statistics were "not entirely satisfactory, but I still think good."

Terming July and August results encouraging, he said business "has bounced back a little from what it looked like two or three months ago."

And peering into the future, Hodges said: "I would rather say that over the short term—I believe the economists call that about six months—I think business is going to stay good; not as much as we would like, but still good."

Hodges seemed to betray some longer-term doubts about the strength of the economy when commenting about the prospect of a tax cut. He expressed hope that President Kennedy's tax bill, promised for presentation to Congress in January, will be "simple and not too complicated so that we can get the tax cut without too much delay."

Aerospace Vote On Union Shop Recommended

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A presidential board, seeking to head off a strike which could postpone the nation's next orbital space shot, recommended Tuesday that aerospace workers be allowed to vote on whether they want a union shop.

The recommendation, made in a report of a special board appointed by President Kennedy, would apply to workers at Cape Canaveral, Fla., and other missile sites as well as to employes of the aerospace industry in southern California.

The board was appointed specifically to head off strikes which threatened to "substantially delay our vital missile and space programs . . ."

Pronouncement Arouses Anger On Capitol Hill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk, backed by members of Congress, put Soviet Premier Khrushchev on notice Tuesday that the United States will not be intimidated by his threat of a nuclear war over Cuba.

"We are a great country," Rusk said. "We are not nervous or afraid. We'll proceed as we find it necessary."

This same sentiment was echoed by members of Congress, some of whom reacted angrily to the Soviet pronouncement with such words as "bluff," "bluster," "empty Soviet saber-rattling."

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, the assistant Senate Democratic leader, summed up the view of many by saying Khrushchev knows that no responsible official of the Kennedy administration contemplates any invasion of Cuba.

Old Propaganda Line

At the State Department, press officer Joseph W. Reap said from a cursory reading, the Soviet statement contains a great deal of "obvious propaganda frequently made before by the U.S.S.R. about the United States' policy on Cuba and other matters."

Some U.S. officials expressed the view that the Kremlin was mainly trying to make Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro happy by playing up the value of his ties with the Soviet Union. The officials said they doubt that Khrushchev would have made the threat of going to war if he thought he had to make good on it because he does not want to risk destruction of the U.S.S.R. to aid Castro.

McCormack "Shocked"

Some congressional leaders bristled with resentment, and with puzzlement over the Soviet mention that any action on Berlin could not well go forward because of the U.S. congressional elections coming up in November.

Other officials voiced the view that Khrushchev might be trying to provide an alibi for not pushing the Berlin situation to a crisis in the next couple of months.

House Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass., said he was "frankly shocked" and is sure Americans "will be incensed at this crude Soviet effort to plant seeds of division among us." McCormack said in a statement that the Soviet attempt to "relate a critical international problem to our own domestic election" prompted him to "tell them to mind their own business."

House Stakes American Claim To "Bourbon"

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Tuesday expressed its view to the world that bourbon whisky can happen only in America.

With only brief discussion, the House approved and sent to the Senate a resolution urging government agencies to bar the import of foreign-made whiskies labelled "bourbon" unless the country of origin is carried on the label as part of the name.

The resolution noted that Britain has staked a claim to "Scotch whisky," Canada has taken steps to protect the name "Canadian whisky," and French authorities insist that brandy labeled "cognac" come from the section of the same name in France.

Soraya Denies She Will Marry German

MUNICH, Germany (UPI)—Princess Soraya of Iran Tuesday denied that she plans to marry Gunther sachs Von Opel, German industrialist and playboy. Her disavowal came eight days after his announcement that they would wed.

The green-eyed beauty, who was divorced by Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlevi of Iran because their marriage was childless, gave no reason or explanation for her surprise announcement.

There was no immediate clarification from the 29-year-old Sachs who said on Sept. 3 that Soraya had agreed to marry him. At the time her German-born mother, Eva Esfandiary, confirmed the plans.

Soblen Dies From Brain Hemorrhage

Spy's Tug-Of-War With Justice Ends In British Hospital

LONDON (AP)—Robert A. Soblen's tug-of-war with the forces of U.S. justice ended Tuesday with his death, apparently from a brain hemorrhage.

The 61-year-old New York psychiatrist convicted of spying for the Soviet Union escaped the prospect of a life term in an American prison—and life itself—at 10:40 a.m. in a British hospital.

He had been unconscious since a dose of sleeping potion he gulped secretly knocked him out in an ambulance carrying him from Brixton Prison to a New York-bound airliner last Thursday.

The leukemia he had claimed for months was killing him was a minor factor, a British doctor said.

At his Hillingdon Hospital bedside when he died was his wife, Dina, also a psychiatrist, who arrived from New York last Friday.

Wife Treated For Shock

A hospital spokesman said she was very distressed and had been admitted as a patient for treatment of shock.

The end came for the cold-eyed, Lithuanian-born fugitive just 78 days after he jumped $100,000 bail, boarded a French airliner in New York with the Canadian passport of a dead brother, Beras, and fled to Tel Aviv, Israel.

Israeli authorities denied him the haven he claimed as a Jew under the Israeli Law of Return and expelled him aboard a New York-bound airliner July 1.

He foiled them by slashing his abdomen and a wrist aboard the airliner as it approached London.

An airport doctor ordered him removed to Hillingdon Hospital, nearby, for treatment. Recovered, Soblen fought a series of delaying actions in the British courts and finally made a vain appeal to the home secretary for asylum.

Accomplice Hunted

In the end, he escaped deportation with the aid of a so-far unidentified accomplice who supplied a quick-acting barbiturate.

Homicide detectives from Scotland Yard hunted for this accomplice. They were summoned after it was established that the drug was not of a type stocked at Brixton Prison hospital, where Soblen was confined during most of his 10-week stay in Britain.

There was no official explanation, but one legal source suggested charges might be filed under the suicide law, which deals with criminal liability for complicity in another's death.

Dr. Cyril Barnes, chief physician in the case, said death was not directly caused by the drug but by "exhaustion following convulsions which were due to brain damage, presumably from a hemorrhage."

Soble Freed From Prison

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Jack Soble, brother of convicted Soviet spy Robert A. Soblen who died in London Tuesday, was released last Aug. 31 from a federal prison, the Justice Department said Tuesday.

Soble had served five years of a seven year term for conspiring to steal U. S. defense secrets.

The justice department said he was released early because of time off for good behavior.

Soble, 58, pleaded guilty in 1957 to conspiracy to commit espionage and was imprisoned the following October.

He and four others testified at his brother's 1961 trial which resulted in Soblen being sentenced to life imprisonment.

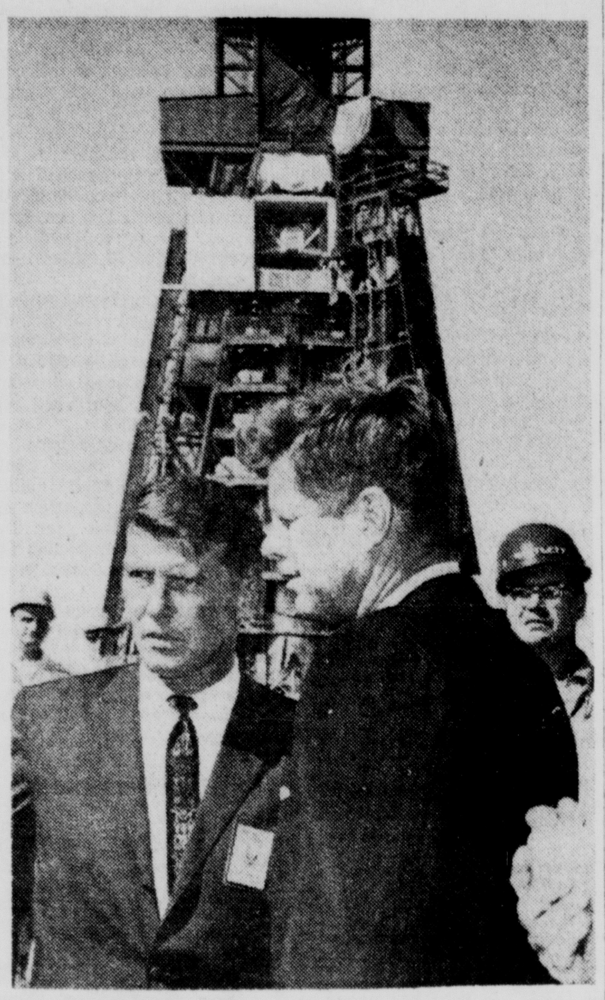

Soble was the chief witness against his brother.

Syrians And Israelis Fight Border Battle

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — A Syrian army spokesman said Syrian and Israeli frontier guards fought a one-hour gun battle across the Syrian-Israeli armistice line Tuesday.

He claimed that one Israeli tractor was directly hit by Syrian fire. The spokesman mentioned no casualties.

He said the Israeli tractor crossed into the southern sector of the demilitarized frontier zone.

U.S. Charges Soviet Set Off Space A-Blast

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The United States charged Tuesday that the Soviet Union carried out high-altitude nuclear tests less than a year ago and never admitted it.

U.S. Delegate Francis T. P. Plimpton made the accusation in the U.N. Committee on Peaceful Uses of Outer Space. He met with a prompt denial from Platon D. Morozov, the Soviet delegate.

Plimpton was replying to charges Monday by Morozov that the U.S. high-altitude test last July 9 had affected the Van Allen radiation belt and created a menace to astronauts.

The U.S. delegate noted that the Soviet Union had information on the radiation dangers faced by the two Soviet astronauts Andrian Nikolayev and Pavel Popovich who manned Vostok III and Vostok IV in August, and that according to the Russians they suffered no harmful radiation effects.

"We have no sympathy for the Soviet Union's crocodile tears over the supposed condition of the Van Allen radiation belt when the Soviet Union has shown only disregard for the effects of atmospheric tests on the people of this earth," Plimpton asserted.

He conceded the tests created a new radiation belt which affected the operation of three U.S. satellites but added it had not interfered with manned flights.

"The United States tests were announced in advance," he declared. "The Soviet series took the world by surprise. Although the Soviet government has never announced it, it is a fact that the Soviet Union itself carried out high-altitude nuclear tests during its series which began a year ago this month."

Bonds In Lieu Of Tax Refunds To Be Offered

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Treasury, in an attempt to boost sales of U.S. savings bonds, announced Tuesday that taxpayers may elect to take income tax refunds in bonds instead of cash.

This new option will become available next year on tax returns for 1962 income, Secretary Douglas Dillon said.

In 1961, 37.6 million tax payers received refunds averaging about $130 each. Another 1.8 million taxpayers had their refunds credited to their taxes for the following year, an option which still will be available.

Marshall Wins Confirmation For Judgeship

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate swiftly approved the judgeship nomination of Negro leader Thurgood Marshall Tuesday after a final attempt by a small band of Southerners to reject the appointment.

After waiting for almost a year for a chance to act, the Senate voted overwhelming confirmation of the 54-year-old former general counsel for the National Association for the Advancement for Colored People.

The vote was 54 to 16.

President Kennedy named Marshall to the Second Circuit Court of Appeals in New York Sept. 23, 1961. He began serving under a recess appointment one month later.

His nomination however was bottled up in the southern-controlled Senate Judiciary Committee until last week.

Exile-Manned Warship Attacks Cuban Vessels

MIAMI (UPI) —An anti-Castro exile group said Tuesday its forces aboard a warship had attacked two Cuban ships and a British freighter off the Cuban north coast Monday and then had driven off pursuing Castro helicopters after a 40-mile running gunbattle.

The attack was first disclosed by Havana Radio in a broadcast Tuesday morning which said a "pirate" warship "bombed and strafed" the three vessels in a dawn raid Monday.

Later Tuesday an exile group styling itself "Alpha 66," took credit for the attack. It said its warship and its crew returned "safe and sound to their Caribbean base of operations" following the daring raid.

The exile group issued a communique saying "Cuban patriots" staged the naval attack on Cape Frances at the north coast seaport of Caribarien "for 50 minute."

The exiles said they bombed, strafed and shelled the three ships in the raid. The ships included a British freighter at anchor in Caibarien and loading Cuban sugar for "the Communist countries." The British ship, the Newlane, was hit 13 times in the machinegun attack, its electrical system knocked out, plunging the ship into darkness, and its bridge was heavily damaged, the exiles said.

The exiles aboard the attacking ship, assumed to be a converted PT-boat, also boarded, dynamited and machinegunned the ex-steamer San Pascual, a refrigeration ship anchored with a concrete base and used as a warehouse for molasses and ice off Cape Frances.

They also strafed the Cuban ship San Blas in the area, hitting it 18 times.

Nation's Chief Tours Rocket Installations

President Briefed By Schirra, Sees Saturn Engine Test

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—In fast-paced visits to two of the country's major space centers, President Kennedy received on-the-spot reports Tuesday on progress being made on his pledge that Americans will land on the moon and return safely in this decade.

At Cape Canaveral, launching site for the man-on-the-moon shot, and earlier at Huntsville, Ala., the President took a close-up look at lunar stepping stones.

At the conclusion of the day he predicted that the nation, although now behind, would surpass the Soviet Union in the space race.

During a 2½-hour tour of the cape, Kennedy chatted with astronauts Walter M. Schirra and Leroy Gordon Cooper; inspected the Atlas-capsule combination which is to carry Schirra on an intended six-orbit flight late this month; saw a Titan II rocket on its stand; and toured facilities for the giant Saturn booster and Hangar S, where space pilots train.

Sees Saturn Engine Test

At Huntsville, he witnessed a ground firing of Saturn engines. He watched from a distance of about 2,500 feet as the massive engines poured out red-orange flame for 30 seconds.

Wernher von Braun, director of the Marshall Space Flight Center at Huntsville, told Kennedy the Saturn would put an American on the moon before 1970.

German-born Von Braun pointed to a drawing of the big rocket and said: "This is the vehicle designed to fulfill your promises to put a man on the moon in this decade. And, by God, we'll do it."

Before departing Cape Canaveral by plane for Houston and the next stop on a two-day space-center tour, Kennedy told an audience of more than 1,500 missile workers that the Russians had gained a great advantage in space in the 1950s.

"But," he added, "I believe that we're on the rise. With your efforts and with the effort of all others involved in the space program, we shall not be behind."

Scientists, Engineers Praised

At Huntsville earlier the President had told a group of workers: "Many of our hopes and aspirations for the conquest of space ride on your work. I am particularly appreciative of the many dedicated scientists and engineers who have selflessly continued this work, often despite personal sacrifices."

The President's entourage included several high-ranking military and space officials. In the party were Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson; Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara; space Administrator James E. Webb; David E. Bell, director of the Budget Bureau; and members of the Senate and House Space Committees.

Traveling with the party were Defense Minister Peter Thorneycroft, and other British defense officials who are in this country for a week of talks with Kennedy and McNamara.

44 Die In Crash Of Jet Tanker

SPOKANE, Wash. (UPI) — A KC-135 jet Stratotanker slammed into a fog-shrouded 5,310 - foot mountain near here Monday and burned, killing all 44 men aboard.

Search operations on Mt. Kit Carson, 20 miles northeast of here, were halted by rain and dense fog at darkness Monday night but by early afternoon Tuesday, the Air Force said all 44 bodies had been recovered.

The Air Force said a special 15-man team, including Air Force personnel and representatives of Boeing, manufacturers of the four-jet tankers, were scheduled to begin an investigation into the crash of the jet Tuesday.

Persons at the scene said few of the bodies were recognizable.

The bodies were taken to Fairchild Air Force Base hospital for identification.

Aboard were a crew of four, 38 airmen and one civilian. The men were combat crew and maintenance personnel from the 28th Bomb Wing at Ellsworth Air Force Base, Rapid City, S.D., temporarily assigned to Fairchild AFB.

N. H. GOP Senatorial Race Nip-And-Tuck

By The Associated Press

New Hampshire Republicans staged a hot, tight, seesaw senatorial primary Tuesday night and scented a possible upset in the balloting for a nominee for governor.

Rep. Perkins Bass and Doloris Bridges were locked in a tough scrap for the Senate nomination for the remainder of the term of Mrs. Bridges' late husband, Styles Bridges. Appointive Sen. Maurice J. Murphy made a strong showing, too.

Another congressman, Rep. Chester E. Merrow, was the fourth entry in a free-for-all.

Gov. Wesley Powell, trying for a third two-year term, was finding tough going in the primary against Bridges' protege, John Pillsbury.

With a third of the unofficial tally in, from 100 of 302 wards and towns, the standings read this way:

For the Republican senatorial nomination:
Bass 5,938
Bridges 5,849
Murphy 4,953
Merrow 2,820

For the GOP gubernatorial nomination:
Pillsbury 10,826
Powell 8,461

In the first flurry of vote counting, Murphy and Powell stepped out ahead, with the help of substantial nudges from their home bases.

Next door in Vermont a smashing upset gave the Democratic Senate nomination to Brattleboro businessman W. Robert Johnson. He downed former Rep. William H. Meyer, the first Democrat since Civil War times to serve the state in the U.S. House. Meyer won one term in 1958.

Johnson will oppose Republican Sen. George Aiken in the November general election. Aiken was unopposed in the Republican primary.

Nine states had primaries Tuesday. But the New Hampshire senatorial tussle was the prime attention getter. Thomas J. McIntyre was unopposed for the Democratic nomination.

Wisconsin Republicans also put on a close battle over the nomination for governor. Wilbur W. Renk, farmer and onetime Eisenhower campaign leader, held a small edge over former state GOP Chairman Philip G. Kuehn on the basis of early returns.

All told, the nation put on its biggest candidate-picking bee of the 1962 campaign. The voters got in their preferences for nominees for eight senate, six governor and 39 House seats.

The states involved: New Hampshire, Vermont, Rhode Island, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Utah, Washington, Arizona and Colorado.

Georgia will hold a primary Wednesday, and after that candidates will be chosen in Massachusetts, New York and Hawaii.

In Rhode Island, Democrat John A. Notte took a lead in skimpy initial returns in an effort to win renomination for a second term as governor.

Mother, Six Children Flee East Germany

BAD HERSFELD, Germany (AP)—A mother and her six children, ranging in ages from 2 to 18 years, escaped from East Germany in broad daylight, police said Tuesday.

The family escaped Sunday and was not spotted by Communist border guards. The father remained in East Germany.

House Stakes American Claim To "Bourbon"

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Tuesday expressed its view to the world that bourbon whisky can happen only in America.

With only brief discussion, the House approved and sent to the Senate a resolution urging government agencies to bar the import of foreign-made whiskies labelled "bourbon" unless the country of origin is carried on the label as part of the name.

The resolution noted that Britain has staked a claim to "Scotch whisky," Canada has taken steps to protect the name "Canadian whisky," and French authorities insist that brandy labeled "cognac" come from the section of the same name in France.

Soraya Denies She Will Marry German

MUNICH, Germany (UPI)—Princess Soraya of Iran Tuesday denied that she plans to marry Gunther sachs Von Opel, German industrialist and playboy. Her disavowal came eight days after his announcement that they would wed.

The green-eyed beauty, who was divorced by Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlevi of Iran because their marriage was childless, gave no reason or explanation for her surprise announcement.

There was no immediate clarification from the 29-year-old Sachs who said on Sept. 3 that Soraya had agreed to marry him. At the time her German-born mother, Eva Esfandiary, confirmed the plans.

Soble Freed From Prison

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Jack Soble, brother of convicted Soviet spy Robert A. Soblen who died in London Tuesday, was released last Aug. 31 from a federal prison, the Justice Department said Tuesday.

Soble had served five years of a seven year term for conspiring to steal U. S. defense secrets.

The justice department said he was released early because of time off for good behavior.

Soble, 58, pleaded guilty in 1957 to conspiracy to commit espionage and was imprisoned the following October.

He and four others testified at his brother's 1961 trial which resulted in Soblen being sentenced to life imprisonment.

Soble was the chief witness against his brother.

Syrians And Israelis Fight Border Battle

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — A Syrian army spokesman said Syrian and Israeli frontier guards fought a one-hour gun battle across the Syrian-Israeli armistice line Tuesday.

He claimed that one Israeli tractor was directly hit by Syrian fire. The spokesman mentioned no casualties.

He said the Israeli tractor crossed into the southern sector of the demilitarized frontier zone.

U.S. Charges Soviet Set Off Space A-Blast

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The United States charged Tuesday that the Soviet Union carried out high-altitude nuclear tests less than a year ago and never admitted it.

U.S. Delegate Francis T. P. Plimpton made the accusation in the U.N. Committee on Peaceful Uses of Outer Space. He met with a prompt denial from Platon D. Morozov, the Soviet delegate.

Plimpton was replying to charges Monday by Morozov that the U.S. high-altitude test last July 9 had affected the Van Allen radiation belt and created a menace to astronauts.

The U.S. delegate noted that the Soviet Union had information on the radiation dangers faced by the two Soviet astronauts Andrian Nikolayev and Pavel Popovich who manned Vostok III and Vostok IV in August, and that according to the Russians they suffered no harmful radiation effects.

"We have no sympathy for the Soviet Union's crocodile tears over the supposed condition of the Van Allen radiation belt when the Soviet Union has shown only disregard for the effects of atmospheric tests on the people of this earth," Plimpton asserted.

He conceded the tests created a new radiation belt which affected the operation of three U.S. satellites but added it had not interfered with manned flights.

"The United States tests were announced in advance," he declared. "The Soviet series took the world by surprise. Although the Soviet government has never announced it, it is a fact that the Soviet Union itself carried out high-altitude nuclear tests during its series which began a year ago this month."

Bonds In Lieu Of Tax Refunds To Be Offered

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Treasury, in an attempt to boost sales of U.S. savings bonds, announced Tuesday that taxpayers may elect to take income tax refunds in bonds instead of cash.

This new option will become available next year on tax returns for 1962 income, Secretary Douglas Dillon said.

In 1961, 37.6 million tax payers received refunds averaging about $130 each. Another 1.8 million taxpayers had their refunds credited to their taxes for the following year, an option which still will be available.

Marshall Wins Confirmation For Judgeship

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate swiftly approved the judgeship nomination of Negro leader Thurgood Marshall Tuesday after a final attempt by a small band of Southerners to reject the appointment.

After waiting for almost a year for a chance to act, the Senate voted overwhelming confirmation of the 54-year-old former general counsel for the National Association for the Advancement for Colored People.

The vote was 54 to 16.

President Kennedy named Marshall to the Second Circuit Court of Appeals in New York Sept. 23, 1961. He began serving under a recess appointment one month later.

His nomination however was bottled up in the southern-controlled Senate Judiciary Committee until last week.

Aerospace Vote On Union Shop Recommended

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A presidential board, seeking to head off a strike which could postpone the nation's next orbital space shot, recommended Tuesday that aerospace workers be allowed to vote on whether they want a union shop.

The recommendation, made in a report of a special board appointed by President Kennedy, would apply to workers at Cape Canaveral, Fla., and other missile sites as well as to employes of the aerospace industry in southern California.

The board was appointed specifically to head off strikes which threatened to "substantially delay our vital missile and space programs . . ."

Personal Income, Profits Of Corporations Hit Peak

WASHINGTON (AP) — Record corporate profits and personal income were reported Tuesday by Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges, who said business will remain good but not spectacular for the next six months.

Hodges told a news conference that profits of corporations reached an annual rate of $50.9 billion in the April-June quarter, up from $50.1 billion in the preceding three months. It so happened that it came at a time when the stock market suffered its sharp break.

Personal income—the total income of all individual Americans—increased by $900 million to a peak annual rate of $442.8 billion in August. The gain was marred somewhat, however, by a decline in manufacturing payrolls.

Hodges said the new statistics were "not entirely satisfactory, but I still think good."

Terming July and August results encouraging, he said business "has bounced back a little from what it looked like two or three months ago."

And peering into the future, Hodges said: "I would rather say that over the short term—I believe the economists call that about six months—I think business is going to stay good; not as much as we would like, but still good."

Hodges seemed to betray some longer-term doubts about the strength of the economy when commenting about the prospect of a tax cut. He expressed hope that President Kennedy's tax bill, promised for presentation to Congress in January, will be "simple and not too complicated so that we can get the tax cut without too much delay."

Exile-Manned Warship Attacks Cuban Vessels

MIAMI (UPI) —An anti-Castro exile group said Tuesday its forces aboard a warship had attacked two Cuban ships and a British freighter off the Cuban north coast Monday and then had driven off pursuing Castro helicopters after a 40-mile running gun-battle.

The attack was first disclosed by Havana Radio in a broadcast Tuesday morning which said a "pirate" warship "bombed and strafed" the three vessels in a dawn raid Monday.

Later Tuesday an exile group styling itself "Alpha 66," took credit for the attack. It said its warship and its crew returned "safe and sound to their Caribbean base of operations" following the daring raid.

The exile group issued a communique saying "Cuban patriots" staged the naval attack on Cape Frances at the north coast seaport of Caribarien "for 50 minute."

The exiles said they bombed, strafed and shelled the three ships in the raid. The ships included a British freighter at anchor in Caibarien and loading Cuban sugar for "the Communist countries." The British ship, the Newlane, was hit 13 times in the machinegun attack, its electrical system knocked out, plunging the ship into darkness, and its bridge was heavily damaged, the exiles said.

The exiles aboard the attacking ship, assumed to be a converted PT-boat, also boarded, dynamited and machinegunned the ex-steamer San Pascual, a refrigeration ship anchored with a concrete base and used as a warehouse for molasses and ice off Cape Frances.

They also strafed the Cuban ship San Blas in the area, hitting it 18 times.

44 Die In Crash Of Jet Tanker

SPOKANE, Wash. (UPI) — A KC-135 jet Stratotanker slammed into a fog-shrouded 5,310 - foot mountain near here Monday and burned, killing all 44 men aboard.

Search operations on Mt. Kit Carson, 20 miles northeast of here, were halted by rain and dense fog at darkness Monday night but by early afternoon Tuesday, the Air Force said all 44 bodies had been recovered.

The Air Force said a special 15-man team, including Air Force personnel and representatives of Boeing, manufacturers of the four-jet tankers, were scheduled to begin an investigation into the crash of the jet Tuesday.

Persons at the scene said few of the bodies were recognizable.

The bodies were taken to Fairchild Air Force Base hospital for identification.

Aboard were a crew of four, 38 airmen and one civilian. The men were combat crew and maintenance personnel from the 28th Bomb Wing at Ellsworth Air Force Base, Rapid City, S.D., temporarily assigned to Fairchild AFB.

Supreme Court Nominee Gets Bouquets, Brickbat

WASHINGTON (AP) — Arthur J. Goldberg was greeted by many bouquets and a single brickbat Tuesday as he pledged to serve fairly and without bias as a Supreme Court justice.

Goldberg told the Senate Judiciary Committee he had severed all ties with labor unions before entering President Kennedy's Cabinet as secretary of labor—even refusing a pension to which he was entitled after years as counsel for the United Steelworkers Union.

"Under any circumstances, confirmed or not, I do not expect to resume any association, not only with that union but with any union," the 54-year-old Goldberg said. "If I went back to practice of law it would be general practice."

He said the people are entitled to feel that a Cabinet member or justice "is not treasuring an association" that might prejudice his official acts.

Goldberg, a Chicagoan, received high praise from the two Illinois senators, Democrat Paul H. Douglas and Republican Everett M. Dirksen, and also from his congressman, Democrat Barratt O'Hara.

He was chosen by Kennedy to replace retired Associate Justice Felix Frankfurter.

Following his usual practice, Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., committee chairman, asked if anyone present wanted to testify against Goldberg. No opposition witnesses had been scheduled.

"I do," said David A. Walsh, striding forward from the rear of the hearing room.

Walsh, a Washington contractor, contended he had been punished by the Labor Department in connection with a wage case.

He was granted an immediate hearing by a five-man subcommittee after the full committee concluded its session with Goldberg. Goldberg will appear again before the full committee on Thursday.

Walsh told the subcommittee chairman, Sen. Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., he blamed Goldberg personally for his troubles.

Sen. Sam J. Ervin, D-N.C., said it was "a vivid use of imagination to charge the secretary of labor with knowledge of everything that transpires in that vast department."

"I believe in personal responsibility all the way down the line," the sandy-haired Walsh snapped.

Drought Deals Md. Corn Crop $6 Million Blow

COLLEGE PARK Md. (AP) — The Maryland-Delaware Crop Reporting Service estimated Tuesday that the summer drought reduced this year's crop harvest in the two-state area by $15 million.

The service reported estimated losses amounting to $12 million in Maryland and $3 million in Delare.

The crop-reduction estimates indicated dairymen sustained severe losses from drought damage to pastures. The service said those losses were difficult to measure.

The figures showed the drought inflicted the heaviest toll in Maryland on corn. Losses were estimated at $5.5-$6 million.

This year's corn production in Maryland is expected to be 19,200,000 bushels, off 13 per cent from last year. The service predicts a yield-per-acre of 50 bushels, lowest since 1957.

Maryland's soy bean crop suffered a 15 per cent production decline in the wake of the drought. The service quoted a figure of 5,250,000 bushels and monetary loss of $1.5-$2 million. Yield per-acre is off slightly.

The crop reporting service announced that hay losses would probaly amount to $2-$2.5 million in Maryland, with production off 24 per cent from last year. The service forecast a production figure of 601,000 tons, lowest since the 1957 drought.

Meanwhile, the service said in its weekly weather-crop report that rainfall since Sept. 1 had improved the outlook for fall pasture feed but pastures are still supplying below-average amounts of feed in the two-state area.

High Court Rebuffs Valle

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—The Maryland Court of Appeals upheld Tuesday a Baltimore Circuit Court decision nullifying the nomination of Francis J. Valle as state's attorney for Baltimore City.

In a per curium decision, the state's high court affirmed a ruling by Judge Emory H. Niles which declared Valle's nomination as Democratic successor to the late Saul A. Harris to be null and void.

The high court order, signed by Chief Judge Frederick W. Brune, merely said it was affirming Judge Niles' decision. The reasons are to be set forth in a formal opinion at a later date.

The court's decision came more than 24 hours after it had heard arguments in the case.

The seven judges deliberated more than three hours Monday and resumed their conference Tueseday afternoon after completing regularly scheduled arguments for Tuesday.

The high court decree will uphold Judge Niles' finding that there was not a proper quorum of the Baltimore City Democratic committee present when Valle was nominated, and also that the nomination should have been made by the state Democratic committee instead of the city group.

The political controversy involved another clash between Gov. Tawes and James H. (Jack) Pollack, northwest Baltimore political boss. Pollack had supported Valle's unsuccessful candidacy against Harris in the May 15 Democratic primary.

Prisoner Scheduled To Give Blood Flees

SALISBURY (AP)—A 35-year-old prisoner at Poplar Hill Labor Camp fled Tuesday during a trip to Peninsula General Hospital to donate blood.

Police said he walked away from a group including four other prisoners also slated to give blood.

Gladden has an artificial leg.

Baltimorean Sours On Life As Grenadier

LONDON (AP) — Bobs Mays from Baltimore, who realized a lifelong ambition to join the British Grenadier Guards, announced Tuesday he's got a new ambition—to quit the guards.

Mays, 24, got a lift in a British warship from the West Indies to Britain so he could join the famed regiment. He picked the Grenadiers, he said because an ancestor fought with them at Waterloo.

Mays signed up for 22 years, got a close-cropped guards' haircut and was fitted out with a snappy new uniform.

But his arduous training course ended after only three weeks. Responding too fast to a command, he slipped on a polished floor in the barracks and injured his back.

In a hospital encased in plaster from chest to hips, Mays said he's cooled off on soldiering.

"I have pretty well made up my mind to buy myself out of the Army if I don't get a discharge," he said. "I'm not happy about a number of things in the Army."

Mays said he wants to go back to the United States. He'll have to go as an immigrant, because he gave up his U. S. citizenship to join the Grenadiers.

"The U. S. Embassy has sent me application forms for a visa," he said.

Beall For Marshall; Butler Doesn't Vote

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. John Marshall Butler, R-Md., was not registered as voting Tuesday when the Senate voted 54-16 to confirm the nomination of Thurgood Marshall as a member of the 2nd U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

Sen. J. Glenn Beall, R-Md., voted with the majority on the motion to confirm.

Also voting for confirmation of Marshall were Sens. Robert C. Byrd and Jennings Randolph, West Virginia Democrats.

On June 14, 1777, the flag became the national flag of the United States by proclamation of Congress.

Restaurateurs Draw CIG Fire For Md. Session

BALTIMORE (AP) — A Maryland integrationist organization protested Tuesday's meeting of the National Restaurants Association in Baltimore, contending "the overwhelming majority of restaurants in the so-called Free State are still racially segregated."

Leo Burroughs Jr., publicity director of the Civic Interest Group, said the theme of the meeting was "Food Service" and called Maryland "one of the most inappropriate sites in the country" for the one-day session.

"The NRA," he said in a statement, "would do well to seriously consider at its present session the giving of food service to all Americans without regard to race or color."

Baltimore City has a public accommodations ordinance providing that Negroes will be served in public eating places which serve more food than liquor. Maryland has no such law.

State Officials Urge Flu Shots

BALTIMORE (AP)—Officials of the State Health Department urged Tuesday influenza vaccinations for pregnant women, those with chronic illnesses and those over 45.

The officials called for protection for high-risk groups after the United States Public Health Service warned there might be a high incidence of Asian flu this winter.

State officials did not, however, recommend a community-wide vaccination program. The health department confined its warning to the three groups.

"When influenza strikes a community, it is among these groups of the population that the severest cases and the majority of the deaths occur."

The department also recommended immunization of those engaged in medical and health services, public safety, public utilities, transportation, education and communication.

Drought Deals Md. Corn Crop $6 Million Blow

COLLEGE PARK Md. (AP) — The Maryland-Delaware Crop Reporting Service estimated Tuesday that the summer drought reduced this year's crop harvest in the two-state area by $15 million.

The service reported estimated losses amounting to $12 million in Maryland and $3 million in Delaare.

The crop-reduction estimates indicated dairymen sustained severe losses from drought damage to pastures. The service said those losses were difficult to measure.

The figures showed the drought inflicted the heaviest toll in Maryland on corn. Losses were estimated at $5.5-$6 million.

This year's corn production in Maryland is expected to be 19,200,000 bushels, off 13 per cent from last year. The service predicts a yield-per-acre of 50 bushels, low est since 1957.

Maryland's soy bean crop suffered a 15 per cent production decline in the wake of the drought. The service quoted a figure of 5,250,000 bushels and monetary loss of $1.5-$2 million. Yield per-acre is off slightly.

The crop reporting service announced that hay losses would probaly amount to $2-$2.5 million in Maryland, with production off 24 per cent from last year. The service forecast a production figure of 601,000 tons, lowest since the 1957 drought.

Meanwhile, the service said in its weekly weather-crop report that rainfall since Sept. 1 had improved the outlook for fall pasture feed but pastures are still supplying below-average amounts of feed in the two-state area.

"The U. S. Embassy has sent me application forms for a visa," he said.

Beall For Marshall; Butler Doesn't Vote

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. John Marshall Butler, R-Md., was not registered as voting Tuesday when the Senate voted 54-16 to confirm the nomination of Thurgood Marshall as a member of the 2nd U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

Sen. J. Glenn Beall, R-Md., voted with the majority on the motion to confirm.

Also voting for confirmation of Marshall were Sens. Robert C. Byrd and Jennings Randolph, West Virginia Democrats.

On June 14, 1777, the flag became the national flag of the United States by proclamation of Congress.

Restaurateurs Draw CIG Fire For Md. Session

BALTIMORE (AP) — A Maryland integrationist organization protested Tuesday's meeting of the National Restaurants Association in Baltimore, contending "the overwhelming majority of restaurants in the so-called Free State are still racially segregated."

Leo Burroughs Jr., publicity director of the Civic Interest Group, said the theme of the meeting was "Food Service" and called Maryland "one of the most inappropriate sites in the country" for the one-day session.

"The NRA," he said in a statement, "would do well to seriously consider at its present session the giving of food service to all Americans without regard to race or color."

Baltimore City has a public accommodations ordinance providing that Negroes will be served in public eating places which serve more food than liquor. Maryland has no such law.

State Officials Urge Flu Shots

BALTIMORE (AP)—Officials of the State Health Department urged Tuesday influenza vaccinations for pregnant women, those with chronic illnesses and those over 45.

The officials called for protection for high-risk groups after the United States Public Health Service warned there might be a high incidence of Asian flu this winter.

State officials did not, however, recommend a community-wide vaccination program. The health department confined its warning to the three groups.

"When influenza strikes a community, it is among these groups of the population that the severest cases and the majority of the deaths occur."

The department also recommended immunization of those engaged in medical and health services, public safety, public utilities, transportation, education and communication.

Voluntary Sterilization Plan Assailed By Bishop

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Bishop John J. Russell of the Richmond Roman Catholic Diocese said Tuesday a Fauquier County, Va., voluntary sterilization program for women is a "terrible evil."

The bishop said the program is reminiscent of "the horrible plan of Hitler to sterilize people for economic or ethnic reasons."

Bishop Russell said the Fauquier program to sterilize medically indigent women "forces me to raise my voice in utter protest and condemnation."

He is the third churchman in three days to criticize the plan. Evangelist Billy Graham told a news conference in Washington Monday he agreed with the Most Rev. Patrick A. O'Boyle, Roman Catholic archbishop of Washington, who called the program "grossly immoral."

Fauquier County, in Northern Virginia's rolling horse country, is in Bishop Russell's diocese of Richmond.

Susquehanna Development Plan Pushed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pennsylvania and New York congressmen met with Army Engineers Tuesday to plan backing for a development survey of the Susquehanna River watershed.

Rep. Daniel J. Flood, D-Pa., who called the meeting in the capital, said he envisioned a 50-year development for the river basin lying in New York, Pennsylvania and Maryland.

He said a public works appropriation bill, which the House has passed and sent to the Senate, contains $300,000 for starting the survey.

Sen. Joseph S. Clark Jr., D-Pa., said the backing for the project must be bipartisan. If either the Democrats or the Republicans try to grab credit, he said, efforts for the project will backfire.

Flood said he's asking senatorial support for his resolution to set up a regional agency under a three-state compact for development of the Susquehanna basin.

Much of the meeting, which was not attended by any Maryland members of Congress, dealt with details for getting public backing for the tri-state project.

The congressmen were told that much of the success of the Delaware River Compact was due to the state governments involved being thoroughly identified with the project.

Col. Roy S. Kelley, district Army Engineer at Baltimore, said the survey would require about six years. Preliminary work, he added, has shown relatively good public support.

Frederick Firm Low

BALTIMORE (AP)—Richard F. Klein Inc. of Frederick submitted a low bid of $1,088,277 Tuesday for surfacing 1.7 miles of the Washington National Pike in Montgomery County.

Some 120 species of birds, including the ivory-billed woodpecker and the Eskimo curlew, are facing extinction.

Maryland News In Brief

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Visitors at the 5th International Food Congress and Exhibition in New York City this week will see a preview of a cookbook to be edited by Maryland's First Lady.

Mrs. Avalynne Gibson Tawes, wife of Gov. Tawes, has entered a 17-recipe pamphlet entitled "My Favorite Maryland Recipes" in the state's exhibit.

Mrs. Tawes will be at the exhibit Wednesday. She says in the pamphlet that the recipes have assisted her in keeping alive a family tradition of good cooking.

BALTIMORE (AP) — A three-alarm fire destroyed five lanes of a bowling alley Tuesday and caused smoke damage to a theater above it.

Battalion Chief Vincent J. Simanski, 62, broke his jaw when he fell 12 feet down a grating while directing fire-fighting operations. Twelve persons were evacuated from their homes on either side of the fire and the houses also were damaged by smoke.

Police said the fire started near the automatic pin setters in the bowling alley, where 15 lanes were damaged by water.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. J. Glenn Beall, R-Md., said Tuesday Soviet Premier Khrushchev's "boasts of fantastic Soviet space weapons" indicate the Russian space program is aimed at "attaining military dominance in the space around the earth."

"In view of the Soviet's past performance, we cannot afford to trust them about anything," Sen. Beall said in his weekly newsletter. "The unhappy fact we must face is that in today's world only insurmountable military capability on our part insures peace."

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Motor vehicle fuel tax receipts for August netted $5,201,340 for the state and its political subdivisions, Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein announced Tuesday.

The receipts reflected an increase of 8.6 per cent over those of August, 1961.

The State Roads Commission's 50 per cent share came to $2,600,670. Baltimore City received $1,560,402 and the 23 counties $1,040,268.

ROCKVILLE, Md. (AP)—Leroy Peterson, convicted in April on a charge of rape, was sentenced Tuesday to 20 years in prison.

Judge Kathryn J. Shook of Montgomery County Circuit Court said she had deferred sentencing in order to make a thorough study of the case.

Peterson, 27-year-old Negro from Washington, was charged with raping a 33-year-old white woman in a Silver Spring park.

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—The 10th annual Anne Arundel County Fair opens Wednesday for a four-day run at Sandy Point State Park near the Chesapeake Bay Bridge.

Tobacco displays, horsepulling contests, livestock judging and conservation and farm exhibits will be awarded in the various contests. The grounds open at 9 a.m. daily.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Dr. Irne Hitchman has been appointed director of hospital inspection and licensing in the Department of Mental Hygiene.

An associate professor of psychiatry with the University of Maryland Medical School for several years, Dr. Hitchman is a past president of the Maryland Psychiatric Association.

BLADENSBURG, Md. (AP) — The Bladensburg town council has adopted an anti-loitering ordinance designed to keep teen-agers off the streets after 10 p.m.

The ordinance approved Monday night forbids anyone 18 or younger from loitering in a public or space—or outside privately owned houses—between 10 p.m. and 6 a.m.

Potomac Fish Die By Millions At Washington

WASHINGTON (AP)—There are millions of dead fish, predominantly small ones, in the Potomac River between here and Marshall Hall.

There was no immediate explanation, but one District of Columbia official expressed the theory that the fish may be dying because of a shortage of dissolved oxygen in the water and low river flow due to drought.

The fish have been noticed particularly between Key Bridge here and Marshall Hall, about 18 miles downstream.

A similar condition was reported along a 15-mile stretch between Morgantown, Md., and the point where the Potomac enters Chesapeake Bay.

D. C. harbor police said the fish resemble herring or white perch and estimated they were as thick as 30 to a square yard in spots.

Most of Egypt's 386,000 square miles are virtually uninhabited desert.

Death Blamed On Bee Stings

CAMBRIDGE (AP) — A blood clot caused by bee stings was blamed Tuesday for the death of Nicholas B. Bankard, 22, of Cambridge.

Bankard was treated Aug. 24 at the Cambridge-Maryland Hospital for bee stings, and returned several times for additional treatment. Monday, he fell seven feet from a ladder and was pronounced dead at the hospital.

Dr. Peter Riechert, pathologist at the hospital, said an autopsy showed that a blood clot in Bankard's lung, induced by the bee stings, caused the man's death. He said the fall from the ladder had nothing to do with it.

Council On Consumer Problems Proposed

BALTIMORE (AP)—A member of the Maryland House of Delegates said Tuesday he would introduce a joint resolution at the 1963 legislative session urging appointment of an advisory council on consumer problems.

Del. Alexander Stark, D-Balto 5th, said: "I don't think Maryland should abdicate its responsibilities in this area to the federal government. A local group would be more responsive to local needs."

Stark said the group he proposed would recommend laws for protecting buyers from new and subtle abuses which have crept into the marketplace, from short weights and deceptive packaging to food additives.

New Medical Discovery Never Before Available
Now Released To Public. No Prescription Needed.

Today, science has announced a doctor's new formula which has been especially developed to relieve both the throbbing pain and sickish feeling of migraine-type headaches. Tests conducted by a practicing New York physician showed that in patient after patient—pain-relief and comfort were obtained in minutes. And all without the use of narcotics, codeine or ergot remedies which may upset the stomach and so further aggravate the condition.

This remarkable new formula is called Duplexin®. It is the first headache discovery in the history of medicine with this exclusive formula. (a unique 2-layer pink and white tablet). It relieves both headache pain and a sick upset stomach with this exclusive formula.

Here are the medical facts why Duplexin is safer, faster, more effective—why it's unlike the usual headache remedies. Only Duplexin unites powerful doctor-approved pain relievers with this special stomach-soothing antacid. In seconds, Duplexin does what no aspirin or buffered aspirin can ever do. Its pink layer relieves that sickish feeling and protects your stomach as it keeps on speeding relief.

Duplexin also calms nervous stress (which so often causes migraine) and helps relieve depression. Taken at the first sign of an attack Duplexin actually helps prevent those migraine pains. Ask for Duplexin Tablets at any drugstore. Now available without prescription.

Points mentioned included use, color, space, durability, kind of cleaning necessary, leather covering vs. cloth; wool vs. man-made fabric; older type filler against sponge rubber, construction and period pieces.

Reporting on the home furnishing demonstration, Mrs. Walter Stafford stressed the object is to produce a liveable and attractive room, so the plan must be individual, flexible, practical and realistic. Other suggestions were to place a large piece of furniture rather than a lamp in front of a window; a better effect can be obtained from one piece parallel and the other vertical, rather than both parallel, and never overcrowd a room.

Mrs. Bernard Baker presided and urged achievement lists be submitted to chairmen at the next meeting. Following the Lord's Prayer, a gift was presented to the hostess for her new home and a tour of the house taken. Mrs. Wade Rice assisted in serving refreshments. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Betty Slider, Broadwater Street. Others attending were Mrs. Fred Chamberlin, Mrs. Helen Wilson, Mrs. Ronald Baker and Mrs. Mason Glover.

Bringing Up Baby®

HINTS COLLECTED BY MRS. DAN GERBER, MOTHER OF 5

Frequent question that pops up in the warm and wonderful letters I get from mothers: "Are you real, or just a make-believe person?" Well, I'm happy to report that I'm a very much alive, proud mother of five, and a several-times grandmother, too. We're a close and happy family and down to the last one of us, we think babies are the very nicest things that can happen to people.

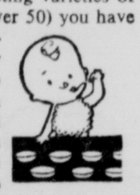

•

Mealtime memo. I loved feeding time with all my children. (And still do when I feed my adorable grandchildren.) Somehow that's the time when you're in closest communication with your baby. Feeding time also gives you a welcome "breather" from the normal hectics of the day. Point to remember: if you're relaxed, baby will relax, and feeding will be more fun for both of you.

•

Taste-testing — baby style. Once baby has become accustomed to the feel and swallow of solid foods, taste becomes a big factor in the acceptance or rejection of foods. Fortunately Gerber makes so many good-tasting varieties of strained foods (over 50) you have plenty of alternates with similar nutritive values to choose from. In Gerber's several food categories you will find enough variety to keep any baby happy—and well-nourished. P. S. The more variety you offer baby, the more foods he will learn to like . . . the more interest he'll show in his meals.

•

A change of taste is important where cereal is concerned, too. By rotating Gerber Rice Cereal, Barley, Oatmeal, Mixed Cereal and High Protein Cereal, you help keep baby interested in this all-important baby basic. And why are these special cereals so important, from the infant age through the toddler stage? Because they provide these needed nutrients: calories, iron, calcium and important B-vitamins. All contribute to your baby's nutritional well-being. Gerber Baby Foods, Fremont, Michigan.

Fire Alarm Ordered For Sylvan Retreat

A fire alarm and communications system for Sylvan Retreat was ordered purchased yesterday by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners.

County Commissioner Louis V. Shinnamon, who oversees the three institutions on the County Farm, said the recommendation for its installation was made after an inspection by Jesse Jacobs, Frostburg, deputy state fire marshal.

Shinnamon pointed out that after several inspections of the three-story structure with Cumberland Fire Chief Virgil A. Parker a system providing for both alarm and two-way voice communication was chosen.

The Wes Mar Communications Company of 9 Mullen Street will install the system for $1,296. A central board designates the station from which an alarm is sounded by pushing buttons on the respective boxes to be located through the building.

In another transaction with Wes Mar Communications, the County Commissioners arranged for the installation of mobile radio units in the cruisers of the county sheriff.

The arrangement will be on a leasing basis. This will put the sheriff's cruisers in radio contact with State and City police.

The county commissioners also heard Robert Herboldsheimer's report on meetings of the Allegany County Board of Education and ordered the statement filed in the minutes of the county board.

Herboldsheimer spoke on the manner of conducting official meetings of the Board of Education.

Cresaptown Sanitary Unit Seeks Funds

An application for a federal grant for a sewage treatment works for the Cresaptown Sanitary District has been filed by the Allegany County Sanitary Commission.

The papers have been submitted to the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare under the federal Water Pollution Control Act.

The county sanitary unit is seeking $61,000 under this federal law to aid financially in setting up the sewage works for the Cresaptown area.

Leslie J. Clark, county attorney, said the commission will request the Maryland Department of Health for a similar amount under a matching basis as provided in state and federal laws governing these grants.

The Right Rev. Noble C. Powell, DD, Episcopal Bishop of Maryland, will officiate at the dedication services of the Holy Cross Episcopal Church today at 8 p.m. The new church is located at Brookfield and Greenway Avenues.

A reception will be held in the undercroft of the church following the service to which the public is invited.

The first services in the new Holy Cross Church were at midnight last Christmas. Prior to that time the congregation worshiped in the original chapel on Virginia Avenue. The congregation was founded on that site on All Saints Day in 1891.

Located across from the Fort Hill Stadium, the church was designed by J. J. Chapman, architect, of Hagerstown. The Rev. William J. Cox is priest in charge of the parish.

Office Changes Set At Court House

Monday will be moving day for some county offices in Allegany County Court House.

The quarters of James S. Stevenson, clerk to the Board of County Commissioners, and the county finance department will be transferred to the three-room suite formerly occupied by the district forester for the Maryland Department of Forests and Parks.

It will be a move from the first floor to the third floor. The clerk and finance facilities will be taken over by the tax and assessment departments.

The change was made possible when the forestry offices were moved to LaVale in the LaVale Drug Store Building.

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Will you please tell me how old women must be before they stop referring to themselves as "girls?"

My wife belongs to a card club which meets every other week. All these biddies are about the same age as my wife. Five of them went to school together, in fact. My wife is 59. We have eight grandchildren. Every woman in the club is a grandmother except one, and she never married.

You know very well that these old dames are not kids. Yet they refer to themselves as "girls." This sounds so peculiar to me I wish you'd straighten them out. Thank you.—DOC

DEAR DOC: A female is a girl as long as she lives, and she has a right to call herself one.

This train runs both ways. Have you seen some of those baldheaded, paunchy coots who want a night out with "the boys?" Well — same thing, Bub.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm 17 and going steady with a wonderful guy. At least I thought he was wonderful until last night.

Mitch and I got into an argument over which TV channel to watch. All of a sudden he said "You're a spoiled brat!" And then he slapped me across the face. I was stunned. No fellow has ever done anything like that to me before. It was all I could do to hold back the tears.

I told Mitch to please leave, and he did, without saying a word.

About an hour later the phone rang. I thought surely he must be calling to apologize. Instead he called to tell me that slapping me was evidence of his love — it proved I was "his woman." He says no man ever slaps a woman unless he really and truly loves her.

I've never heard of this idea. Have you? Please explain his theory so I can get it straight in my mind.—B. WILDERED

DEAR B.: How lucky can you get — a fellow who loves you and is willing to prove it by slapping you across the face!

One day this great love may flower into something truly magnificent — and then he'll prove it by knocking your teeth out.

Have nothing more to do with the bully. A girl who puts up with slaps during courtship can count on shiners, loose bridgework and worse—after marriage.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Am I making a mountain out of an ant hill? I am married (for the second time) to a man I love very much. Leo has legally adopted my two boys by a previous marriage. He insists the boys call him by his first name. They are terribly fond of him and have asked if they can call him Daddy, instead of Leo. He has told them "No."

Now we are expecting our first baby. I'm fearful that Leo will want his natural child to call him Daddy. The other two youngsters will then feel left out.

The boys see their real father once or twice a year. They never mention him between visits. My new in-laws adore the children and have asked to be called Grandma and Grandpa. How can I make my husband see that he should allow his step-sons to call him Daddy?—EDNA

DEAR EDNA: It sounds as if your husband has made up his mind. Don't put any more pressure on him. He will only become irritated — or worse.

The point here is this: ALL the children should address him in the same manner (even if it's Leo). And "ALL" includes your expected addition to the family.

CONFIDENTIAL TO IN DRERD MINE GELT: Learn from it then forget it. The worst of these deals is you usually wind up losing the friendship as well.

To learn the difference between a marriage that "settles down" and one that "gets dull," send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "What To Expect From Marriage," enclosing with your request 20c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Road and drainage problems will be the major topic of discussion of the Maryland Association of County Engineers.

Fire Alarm Ordered For Sylvan Retreat

A fire alarm and communications system for Sylvan Retreat was ordered purchased yesterday by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners.

County Commissioner Louis V. Shinnamon, who oversees the three institutions on the County Farm, said the recommendation for its installation was made after an inspection by Jesse Jacobs, Frostburg, deputy state fire marshal.

Shinnamon pointed out that after several inspections of the three-story structure with Cumberland Fire Chief Virgil A. Parker a system providing for both alarm and two-way voice communication was chosen.

The Wes Mar Communications Company of 9 Mullen Street will install the system for $1,296. A central board designates the station from which an alarm is sounded by pushing buttons on the respective boxes to be located through the building.

In another transaction with Wes Mar Communications, the County Commissioners arranged for the installation of mobile radio units in the cruisers of the county sheriff.

The arrangement will be on a leasing basis. This will put the sheriff's cruisers in radio contact with State and City police.

The county commissioners also heard Robert Herboldsheimer's report on meetings of the Allegany County Board of Education and ordered the statement filed in the minutes of the county board.

Herboldsheimer spoke on the manner of conducting official meetings of the Board of Education.

Cresaptown Sanitary Unit Seeks Funds

An application for a federal grant for a sewage treatment works for the Cresaptown Sanitary District has been filed by the Allegany County Sanitary Commission.

The papers have been submitted to the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare under the federal Water Pollution Control Act.

The county sanitary unit is seeking $61,000 under this federal law to aid financially in setting up the sewage works for the Cresaptown area.

Leslie J. Clark, county attorney, said the commission will request the Maryland Department of Health for a similar amount under a matching basis as provided in state and federal laws governing these grants.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Dare Tall Girls Appear Well-Heeled?

Leg flattery and total costume-appeal matter more than mere inches . . . so I always settle the quarrel between height and high heels in favor of graceful, well-heeled pumps, unless the tall girl is garbed for an occasion that calls for flats or hiking shoes.

If she towers over 5 feet 10 inches in her stocking feet, she can hold those heels to a minimum of 2 inches. Even this little bit of a lift is sufficient for sprucing up her posture and carriage and for shaping up those leg contours. Without it, she's likely to look dowdy, however dressed-up she may be.

Shoe style is another item to consider when a woman seeks both leg flattery and harmony with her clothes. These tips apply to both the tall and the short — but tall girls will probably pay closest attention to them since they are the ones most hampered by the feeling that they are "all legs and feet" — which is only natural because of the grander scale of their general proportions.

1) To make long feet appear shorter, by illusion, look for shoe with wide and low d'Orsay-cut vamps, sling or open-back heels . . . and open toes, if you can find them. Contrasting color combinations also assist in making feet look a bit less prehensile. (But keep in mind that optical shortening may also make the feet look wider; be sure your feet can bear this added illusion.)

2) Making a broad foot appear slimmer and long requires just the opposite treatment—unbroken vertical lines, like those of the classic pump. Those elongated-toe designs provide instant illusion, of course.

3) Legs with full ankles and fat calves will just look more so above ankle-strap shoes, high vamps, skinny heels and all those heavy-looking "sensible" shoe styles. Stay with slenderizing lines and moderate designs.

4) Stork-thin legs, straight as sticks, borrow needed contour from delicate shoe structures, slightly rounded toes and high slim heels. Just keeping your balance on shoes like this is a muscle-builder.

One last word of advice: Never have a dress-fitting in the wrong kind of shoes. Hem length is bound to be awry when you try sport clothe in spkes, high-fashion sheaths in flats.

Step up your score in perfect posture! Learn to walk with a graceful glide instead of a slumped-over stride! It's easy . . . when you "Dance Through a Week to Beauty." This is the title of the most popular exercise pamphlet offered through this newspaper. Mail your request to me, John Robert Powers, today, with 10c and a stamped, self-addressed envelope, for delivery in two weeks.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 ♠	2 ♣	Pass	3 ♣
Double	Pass	3 ♠	Pass
4 ♠	Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Ace of ♣

Failure by West to anticipate declarer's plan of attack resulted in the loss of the game contract to South. After one mild slip in technique, West found himself backed into a corner from which there was no escape.

South's double on the second round of bidding is proper procedure. North needs very little to produce a game and, if South merely makes a free rebid in spades, it is doubtful that his partner will be able to carry on. North's three spade call was made with some reluctance. He was tempted to show the five-card diamond suit, with which action no serious issue could be taken. But, after the return to spades, South relieved his partner of any further anxiety by proceeding to game.

West led the ace of clubs and, when East signalled with the jack, a club was continued which declarer ruffed. South would like to be in dummy at this point to take a spade finesse but, unfortunately, there is no direct access to the North hand. In the hope of coaxing a favorable play from the opposition, declarer led the ace of diamonds followed by the deuce. West blithely followed to the first lead with the eight of diamonds and accordingly was saddled with the lead when he had to win the next diamond trick with the king.

He exited with a small heart which rode around to the ten in declarer's hand, but this only postponed the evil moment. South now cashed the ace of hearts and followed this up with the queen, throwing West back in again. This time, West led a trump which unfortunately trapped his partner's king and put an end to the proceedings.

West's play in diamonds is, perhaps, understandable, but a little more reflection on his part might have served to foil declarer's effort. South's failure to play trumps at once implies that his spade holding is not solid. His lead of the ace of diamonds therefore must be part of a campaign to throw the defenders in. Inasmuch as the lead may prove embarrassing to West, he should throw his king of diamonds under the ace, in the hope of making way for partner to win the next lead of diamonds. A heart return now will eliminate the possibility of an end play against West, for he will be able to exit with a heart, when he obtains the lead. This maneuver will force declarer to lead spades from his own hand.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Dare Tall Girls Appear Well-Heeled?

Leg flattery and total costume-appeal matter more than mere inches . . . so I always settle the quarrel between height and high heels in favor of graceful, well-heeled pumps, unless the tall girl is garbed for an occasion that calls for flats or hiking shoes.

If she towers over 5 feet 10 inches in her stocking feet, she can hold those heels to a minimum of 2 inches. Even this little bit of a lift is sufficient for spruce-ing up her posture and carriage and for shaping up those leg contours. Without it, she's likely to look dowdy, however dressed-up she may be.

Shoe style is another item to consider when a woman seeks both leg flattery and harmony with her clothes. These tips apply to both the tall and the short — but tall girls will probably pay closest attention to them since they are the ones most hampered by the feeling that they are "all legs and feet" — which is only natural because of the grander scale of their general proportions.

1) To make long feet appear shorter, by illusion, look for shoe with wide and low d'Orsay-cut vamps, sling or open-back heels . . . and open toes, if you can find them. Contrasting color combinations also assist in making feet look a bit less prehensile. (But keep in mind that optical shortening may also make the feet look wider; be sure your feet can bear this added illusion.)

2) Making a broad foot appear slimmer and long requires just the opposite treatment—unbroken vertical lines, like those of the classic pump. Those elongated-toe designs provide instant illusion, of course.

3) Legs with full ankles and fat calves will just look more so above ankle-strap shoes, high vamps, skinny heels and all those heavy-looking "sensible" shoe styles. Stay with slenderizing lines and moderate designs.

4) Stork-thin legs, straight as sticks, borrow needed contour from delicate shoe structures, slightly rounded toes and high slim heels. Just keeping your balance on shoes like this is a muscle-builder.

One last word of advice: Never have a dress-fitting in the wrong kind of shoes. Hem length is bound to be awry when you try sport clothe in spkes, high-fashion sheaths in flats.

Step up your score in perfect posture! Learn to walk with a graceful glide instead of a slumped-over stride! It's easy . . . when you "Dance Through a Week to Beauty." This is the title of the most popular exercise pamphlet offered through this newspaper. Mail your request to me, John Robert Powers, today, with 10c and a stamped, self-addressed envelope, for delivery in two weeks.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 ♠	2 ♣	Pass	3 ♣
Double	Pass	3 ♠	Pass
4 ♠	Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Ace of ♣

Failure by West to anticipate declarer's plan of attack resulted in the loss of the game contract to South. After one mild slip in technique, West found himself backed into a corner from which there was no escape.

South's double on the second round of bidding is proper procedure. North needs very little to produce a game and, if South merely makes a free rebid in spades, it is doubtful that his partner will be able to carry on. North's three spade call was made with some reluctance. He was tempted to show the five-card diamond suit, with which action no serious issue could be taken. But, after the return to spades, South relieved his partner of any further anxiety by proceeding to game.

West led the ace of clubs and, when East signalled with the jack, a club was continued which declarer ruffed. South would like to be in dummy at this point to take a spade finesse but, unfortunately, there is no direct access to the North hand. In the hope of coaxing a favorable play from the opposition, declarer led the ace of diamonds followed by the deuce. West blithely followed to the first lead with the eight of diamonds and accordingly was saddled with the lead when he had to win the next diamond trick with the king.

He exited with a small heart which rode around to the ten in declarer's hand, but this only postponed the evil moment. South now cashed the ace of hearts and followed this up with the queen, throwing West back in again. This time, West led a trump which unfortunately trapped his partner's king and put an end to the proceedings.

West's play in diamonds is, perhaps, understandable, but a little more reflection on his part might have served to foil declarer's effort. South's failure to play trumps at once implies that his spade holding is not solid. His lead of the ace of diamonds therefore must be part of a campaign to throw the defenders in. Inasmuch as the lead may prove embarrassing to West, he should throw his king of diamonds under the ace, in the hope of making way for partner to win the next lead of diamonds. A heart return now will eliminate the possibility of an end play against West, for he will be able to exit with a heart, when he obtains the lead. This maneuver will force declarer to lead spades from his own hand.

Westernport Will Augment Trash Pickup

Special Monthly Collection Set

WESTERNPORT—At the meeting of Mayor and Commissioners Monday evening it was decided to inaugurate a monthly trash collection to pick up items not ordinarily included in the weekly garbage collection.

The first run will be Monday, Sept. 17 and thereafter, beginning October 1, the pick-up will be the first Monday of each month.

The officials authorized the purchase of 100 water meters. With 155 meters already installed and 25 on order, this makes a total of 280 toward a possible goal of 1,300 meter users in the town limits.

Russell Rutan, a representative of the Neptune Meters, Clarksburg, was present to discuss the cost and feasibility of using water meters.

A delegation from McKinley Street, Greene's Addition area, met with the Mayor and Commissioners to explain why the curbing on that street by the property owners had been delayed, thus causing the town to postpone the street paving until next spring. They stated that they hoped to get the project underway very soon.

Mayor Ray L. Wilt advised them that the street survey was completed and the grading and filling needed would be done by the town. He stated that the water line in the area would be inspected and renewed if necessary.

The delegation was composed of Bruce Ashby, Glynn Clark, William Hanna and William Shimer.

Harry Nesbit asked that shale be put on Riordan Road and the officials complied.

White lines and discs were ordered to be painted.

Romney Woman's Club Plans Annual House Tour

"The Burg" and "Sycamore Dale" have been added to the second annual house tour of the Romney Woman's Club, October 6 and 7.

"The Burg" is located at the west end of Mechanicsburg Gap, three miles west of Romney on U. S. Route 50. This was the home of the late Senator George H. Williams. It is now occupied by Mrs. Williams and George Holland Williams II. It has been in the Means-Taylor-Williams family for seven generations.

The Means family came to America from Tyrone County Ireland, about 1730. "The Brug" was the manor house of Isaac Means who came to Hampshire County in 1769. Edward Taylor married a daughter, Margaret Means, in 1808 and lived at "The Burg." His son, William Taylor, married Margaret Parker and was the grandfather of Senator Williams.

The home is noted for its hospitality and has many family records on display.

"Sycamore Dale," built by Colonel David Gibson in 1839, is located on the South Branch River Road—one mile west of Romney.

It is said this house was used by General Lew Wallace, author of Ben Hur, as his headquarters on his first trip to Romney during the Civil War. This is the site of the final surrender of the famous McNeill Rangers.

It is the present residence of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Williams.

Westernport Will Augment Trash Pickup

Special Monthly Collection Set

WESTERNPORT—At the meeting of Mayor and Commissioners Monday evening it was decided to inaugurate a monthly trash collection to pick up items not ordinarily included in the weekly garbage collection.

The first run will be Monday, Sept. 17 and thereafter, beginning October 1, the pick-up will be the first Monday of each month.

The officials authorized the purchase of 100 water meters. With 155 meters already installed and 25 on order, this makes a total of 280 toward a possible goal of 1,300 meter users in the town limits.

Russell Rutan, a representative of the Neptune Meters, Clarksburg, was present to discuss the cost and feasibility of using water meters.

A delegation from McKinley Street, Greene's Addition area, met with the Mayor and Commissioners to explain why the curbing on that street by the property owners had been delayed, thus causing the town to postpone the street paving until next spring. They stated that they hoped to get the project underway very soon.

Mayor Ray L. Wilt advised them that the street survey was completed and the grading and filling needed would be done by the town. He stated that the water line in the area would be inspected and renewed if necessary.

The delegation was composed of Bruce Ashby, Glynn Clark, William Hanna and William Shimer.

Harry Nesbit asked that shale be put on Riordan Road and the officials complied.

White lines and discs were ordered to be painted.

Romney Woman's Club Plans Annual House Tour

"The Burg" and "Sycamore Dale" have been added to the second annual house tour of the Romney Woman's Club, October 6 and 7.

"The Burg" is located at the west end of Mechanicsburg Gap, three miles west of Romney on U. S. Route 50. This was the home of the late Senator George H. Williams. It is now occupied by Mrs. Williams and George Holland Williams II. It has been in the Means-Taylor-Williams family for seven generations.

The Means family came to America from Tyrone County Ireland, about 1730. "The Brug" was the manor house of Isaac Means who came to Hampshire County in 1769. Edward Taylor married a daughter, Margaret Means, in 1808 and lived at "The Burg." His son, William Taylor, married Margaret Parker and was the grandfather of Senator Williams.

The home is noted for its hospitality and has many family records on display.

"Sycamore Dale," built by Colonel David Gibson in 1839, is located on the South Branch River Road—one mile west of Romney.

It is said this house was used by General Lew Wallace, author of Ben Hur, as his headquarters on his first trip to Romney during the Civil War. This is the site of the final surrender of the famous McNeill Rangers.

It is the present residence of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Williams.

Commissioners Back Expansion Of Memorial

All three Allegany County commissioners have written letters to George B. Newman, president of the board of governors of Memorial Hospital, notifying him that they are in favor of the county providing its share of the cost of the hospital's $1,667,104 modernization program.

The first letter to Mr. Newman was written by County Commissioner John T. Mason several days ago.

Yesterday, Commissioners John J. Rowan and Louis V. Shinnamon added their support in a joint letter to Mr. Newman.

Mr. Rowan and Mr. Shinnamon wrote that when the money is requested after the next session of the Legislature in Annapolis starting in January they will be happy to provide the funds.

Public Works Bill Provides Local Funds

A public works appropriations bill which has been passed by the U. S. House of Representatives and is under consideration by the Senate contains a $13,000 item marked Cumberland and Ridgeley.

It is assumed this is in connection with the local flood protection project and includes the $2,000 annual amount paid the city for assuming care of the federal portion of the project—keeping the river channel clean and cutting of grass along the channel banks in a certain area.

City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum, who is also superintendent of the flood maintenance crew, said he has not been notified what is planned with the other $11,000.

With the exception of the items for which the government is responsible, the city must maintain the flood protection project.

Also listed in the bill under consideration are the following: West Virginia — Cheat River, $102,000; Elkins, $10,000.

Dwelling Permits Are Issued Here

City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum yesterday approved two building permits.

Nell G. Cozad, 214 Glenn Street, was granted a permit to build a one-story dwelling with basement and garage on Blackiston Avenue.

Harry A. Wotring, 38 Humbird Street, was issued a permit to construct a one-story dwelling at 1004 Lexington Avenue.

The Problem Of Telstar's Future

Before the dust of Congressional authorization settled, scientists were deeply engaged in many unbelievably intricate studies, so commonplace in space activities, to find a successor to Telstar. The satellite now orbiting our planet which provided such successful demonstrations a few weeks ago is only an experiment.

To find a successor is no easy task. It has not been decided whether the system to be utilized by the yet-to-be-formed private corporation authorized by Congress will be the close-in type represented by Telstar or a far-out relay network. The closer orbit, while providing easier control and protection from space radiation and particles, would require 10 times the number of satellites to cover the face of the earth.

If the scientific challenges presented by space communications are formidable, so are the economic aspects. As a privately financed corporation, the organization controlling use of the orbiting satellites cannot call upon government subsidies to keep afloat an economically unsound enterprise.

Little is known about the eventual cost of placing in orbit as many as 25 communications satellites, and replacing them every few years as they wear out. Less is known about the potential revenue-producing possibilities of the system.

Only one consideration has been apparent throughout the brief history of Telstar. That is that this is an inevitable development of free science, that worldwide communications will be a boon to mankind, and that ways will be found to make it economically sound.

Such optimism is a symbol of private energy and desire at work. It has its own message to tell the world.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Future Of Education

I have read carefully the reports of Vice Admiral Rickover on Russian and Swiss education. Now, I am reading his report, "Education for All Children, What We Can Learn from England." Actually, this is not a book, but the Hearings before the Committee on Appropriations of the House of Representatives and copies are obtainable by writing to the Committee.

Admiral Rickover is the father of the nuclear submarine and is therefore an heroic figure in American life. He got into the educational field because he needed men to work on the nuclear submarine. He said:

"I am a customer for the products of our schools. I tried to get people to help me do a job in nuclear power development, and I found the product of our schools quite unsatisfactory, so I set out to find the reasons."

He has devoted himself to the problem of American education not only by studying our schools, but by making comparisons with the educational systems of other countries and by getting up special schools for the men who have to work in nuclear physics.

Rickover says:

"You can inform yourself about anything in two ways; by personal experience and by studying the experience of others. Personal experience is necessarily limited by the kind of life you lead and the kind of work you do. But study of the experience of others is limited only by the time you can find to study, to read, to correspond or to talk with experts. Now anybody can read books . . ."

Unfortunately the professional educator is not too concerned with the fact that when Rickover and thousands of other productive men put the educators' work to test, they find their system wanting. We all get secretaries who cannot spell, researchers who know no source material, accountants whose figures go awry, etc. Of this, Rickover says:

"Like most bureaucracies, this huge organization would like to escape lay criticism and tries to do so, by constantly using the stereotyped argument that only 'professionals' or 'inside' critics can judge the performance of other professionals and anyway, nobody can judge the schools unless he has personally inspected every school in the country, sat in every classroom of every school and listened to every child in every classroom of every school.

"Now these are splendid gimmicks if all that the educators want is to save themselves the trouble to answer criticism of the schools. The most effective critics have almost always been outsiders—individuals working on their own, individuals who have no access to public funds that finance junkets of educators around the world. These days they rarely obtain even a foundation grant."

But the real test as to whether an educational system is worthwhile is its product. An educated man is really one who is capable of knowing everything and of applying his knowledge when called upon to do so. There are no limits to the capacity of the human mind. The only restrictions are time and the will to labor. To this might be added, the need for direction.

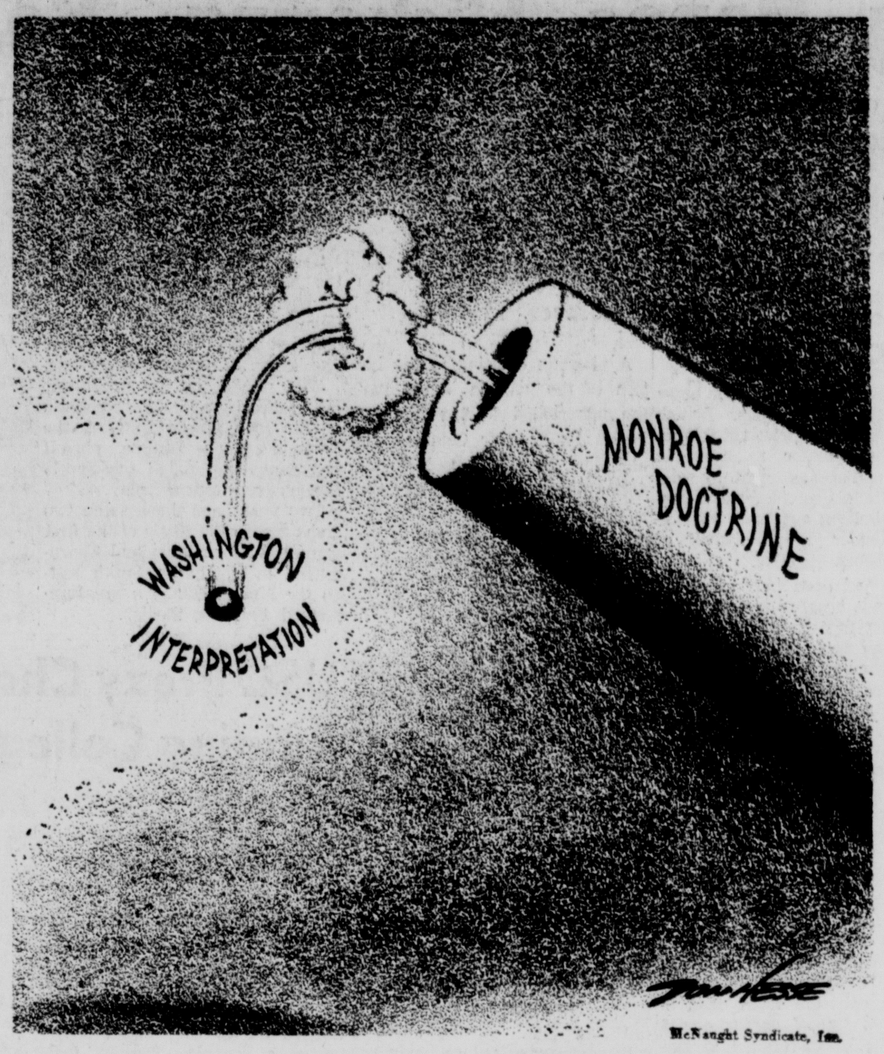

Admiral Rickover says of this:

"As a practical man I am not much interested in the mystique or esoterics of education which fascinate so many of our professional educators. I freely admit I judge schools by their products. Literally thousands of these products pass through my hands and those of my leading scientists and engineers when we interview young people who apply for positions as designers and builders of nuclear reactors or as officers and men to operate our nuclear ships. I find the percentage so qualified to be deplorably small. Those selected we must send to special schools set up and run by our own naval reactors group. These schools do not teach reactor technology alone; they also have to teach many basic subjects which abroad have already been taught in the regular schools. My 'school system' of six schools enrolls about 2,500 students at different levels from high school to graduate university. So, I can claim some personal experience with educating young Americans."

I have just started to read this book and am excited by what I have seen so far. It is not that we need to imitate Russia or Switzerland or Great Britain; it is rather that it is necessary for us to reorganize our educational system so that our people can both know and do.

Time For A Hard Look At Some Hard Facts

By David Lawrence

BERLIN

One of the lurking dangers to this threatened city is the kind of reasoning that was the real cause of the Pearl Harbor disaster.

Before Pearl Harbor, it must be remembered, the U. S. hign command had a whole series of unshakeable convictions about things the Japanese would never do. The possibility of an attack on Pearl Harbor was absolutely ruled out by the War and Navy Departments. The possibility of an attack on the Philippines was absolutely ruled out by Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Behind all this lay the belief that the Japanese would think like Americans. They were expected to know, in fact, that the U. S. would never go to war unless directly attacked. Hence they were expected to leave our Pacific positions untouched on their flank, and to proceed directly, in perfect confidence, to an attack on the Netherlands Indies.

As this reporter learned the day before Pearl Harbor, even the brilliant MacArthur was blinded by the foregoing line of reasoning. There was no plot. The hard facts on the other side of the ledger were simply ignored, because the kind of thing they indicated was thought to be incredible. The result was Pearl Harbor.

The reappearance of Pearl Harbor-style reasoning in the Berlin crisis is revealed by the often parroted slogans: "The Soviets will never risk a big war for Berlin!" and "Khrushchev will never give Ulbricht the power to start a big war!" and "The Russians will never use the East German army; their morale is too poor!"

All these slogans may well be 100 per cent true. One must pray that they are. But their truth depends on the Soviets' thinking about Berlin as we do; and therefore it is prudent to take a hard look at the hard facts accumulating on the other side of the ledger. These facts largely concern the intensive military preparations of the Soviets and East Germans, and particularly the East Germans.

The kind of action that is seemingly being prepared has already been suggested in a previous report. In brief, the Soviets seem to be preparing to sign their famous peace treaty, and then to leave the East Germans to defend those "sovereign rights" Khrushchev is always saying the treaty will confer on East Germany.

If this is correct, the Western will to defend Berlin will be initially tested by East Germans, just as American resolution was tested by North Koreans in Korea and by Communist Chinese at Quemoy. Even such a limited test will be breathlessly dangerous, but it will still leave the Kremlin free to go to the U. N., or to go to war in earnest, or to do many other things, depending on the test's results. How, then, do the above-listed slogans apply?

Taking them in reverse order, the morale of the East German army is quite probably fragile enough to be broken by one bad beating. But the wisest observers here believe the Soviets can count on the East German divisions to put up a good show in the first round, until they have been beaten at least once. By then, it must be noted, the Western will to defend Berlin will be rather fully tested.

As for slogan number two, about Khrushchev's fear of the irresponsible Ulbricht, no leader in the whole Soviet bloc is such a total puppet as Ulbricht. Furthermore, if the new doctrine of Secretary of Defense MacNamara means anything, the initial Western response to an East German attempt to take control of the Berlin access routes will be a conventional response.

So we come to the most often repeated slogan, that the Soviets will not risk a big war for Berlin. Quite aside from the fact that Khrushchev keeps saying precisely the same thing about the United States, what is really meant by this slogan? Does it mean the Soviets will not accept 1 per cent of risk? If you think the odds are 9 to 1 in your favor, is not a gamble to win the world rather tempting?

If the Soviet plan is anything like that outlined above, they certainly wish to minimize the risks. But it is also pretty certain that they are under grave pressure to take some sort of risk to win an early victory. This problem and their calculation of risks must both be examined in another report.

ON THE MOVE—Have you ever wondered what all those moving vans were doing cluttering up the city streets and the nation's highways? Apparently the Federal government did, too, because the U. S. Census Bureau has just made public results of a detailed study of the migration habits of America.

The big fact uncovered is that 20 per cent of the people in the U. S. change residence each year, which means that 35,500,000 Americans today are living in a different place than they did a year ago.

The next biggest fact concerns the age group that moves most. This turns out to be younger people, those 20 to 24 years old. Fully 40 per cent of this group changes residences each year and, incidentally, slightly more women than men in this category, move.

Marriage tends to increase migration and advancing years slows it down. But widowhood and divorce cause increased changes in residence.

People in the West and South move more than those in other regions of the country and the trend away from rural areas and to the cities is continuing. The West is gaining in population through migration and the South is losing.

But most people who move don't move very far. Census found that 67 per cent of people who moved stayed within the boundaries of the same city.

HUMOR—With the political season upon us, there are again beginning to appear those humorous and caustic car bumper signs. In California, where there is a hot and important race for governor between Richard M. Nixon and Edmund G. Brown, a bumper placard is appearing which says: "Vote No for Governor." And another that is beginning to pop up in various sections of the country reads: "Don't ask me. I didn't go to Harvard."

A couple of hit Broadway shows are also being used in the political arena. Nixon, who has written a book, is the target of Democrats who claim it should have been titled "How to try in politics without really succeeding."

And a Senator who showed up well-tanned in the Senate chamber recently replied to kidding about his out-doors look: "funny thing happened on the way to the quorum."

Calling Out Reserves Reminiscent Of Tension In Berlin Last Summer

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON.—The tense situation over Berlin and Cuba this summer "is just where he came in" last summer.

Approximately one year ago I was talking to Nikita Khrushchev on the shore of the Black Sea regarding Berlin and his conference at Vienna with President Kennedy.

"Mr. Kennedy told me," Khrushchev said, "'Our forces are now equal. We can destroy each other.'

"'Yes, Mr. President,'" I replied. "'I agree, though in my heart I feel we are stronger. But I agree on the policy of equality. We regard the strength of the United States in a very serious light.

"'We have to judge governments by their actions, and the United States has now increased its defense budget, you have ordered the mobilization of more men, and you have ordered more bombers. These are not toys.

"'The United States has now dispatched 1,500 additional troops to Berlin. This is a clear threat.'

"I told Mr. Kennedy," Khrushchev continued, "that if he sent 50,000 troops to Berlin it would offer us an opportunity to send even more troops; since we had more troops than he and closer to Berlin. 'If you introduce more troops to Berlin,' I told him, 'it will be a very unwise step.'"

History Repeats

Last Friday at 1:17 p. m. the UPI news ticker carried this flash from the White House: "President Kennedy today asked Congress for authority to order up to 150,000 members of the ready reserve of the armed services to active duty because of the tense international situation."

At 2:40 p. m., the UPI carried this flash from Moscow: "The Soviet Union today ordered all youths born in 1943 to report for military service. At the same time it transferred into the reserves all servicemen who have served their mandatory periods of training."

This is where we came in.

"Fresh New Starts For Peace"

One of the most effective campaign pledges John F. Kennedy made when running for President against Nixon was that he would make "fresh new starts for peace." Over and over he criticized Republican conduct of the cold war, Republican failures to take us out of the cold war, and promised that his Administration would "make fresh new starts for peace."

Very early in his Administration—in fact, even before he was sworn in on Jan. 20—ex-Gov. Averell Harriman of New York, a former Ambassador to Moscow; Adlai Stevenson, Sen. William Fulbright (Ark.), Chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee; and Sen. John Sherman Cooper (Ky.), a Republican friend of Kennedy's who had come back from Russia, urged him to take the initiative regarding Berlin.

They pointed out that Berlin was certain to be a major problem, that Khrushchev was then in a friendly mood, that it was far better for Kennedy to tackle it first than wait for Khrushchev to run with the ball.

Khrushchev had offered to send a cabinet member as special Ambassador to Kennedy's inauguration, had sent the most flowery message of congratulations JFK got from anyone, and almost immediately released the RB-47 fliers.

Kennedy, however, got opposite advice from ex-Secretary of State Dean Acheson and ex-Ambassador Chip Bohlen. Faced with important legislative problems, he procrastinated.

This delay was probably the most serious error of his first year and a half in office—possibly of his entire career. During the procrastination, American foreign policy ran into various snags, the worst being the abortive invasion of Cuba. It was only after this fiasco that the new President—his prestige lowered—took the advice of Stevenson, Harriman, et al, and invited Khrushchev to meet with him in Vienna.

But by this time, Khrushchev, the son of a peasant and a shrewd trader, knew he had the upper hand. His various gestures of friendship had not been reciprocated. Furthermore he had political problems at home—as later became evident at the 22nd Communist Party Conference when the Chinese went back to Peiping, the Stalinists were excoriated, Molotov, leader of the Stalinists, was recalled from Vienna, and the chief question at issue was the inevitability of war with capitalism.

Khrushchev had consistently argued that war is not inevitable, that capitalism and Communism could coexist. Quite recently Harriman and Stevenson have advised Kennedy and Secretary of State Rusk that it is more advisable than ever—even though more difficult than ever—to hold a high level meeting with Khrushchev.

Valley Of The Fallen

MADRID, Spain — The steps seemed endless. Directly ahead, a cassock flapped around the sturdy legs of Fray Justo Perez de Urbel, the middle-aged abbott of the monastery of the Benedictines. "Patience," he said, "a little more." A little more and we were at the top of La Nava and all Spain stretched out below like a wrinkled oriental rug.

The steps are too much for the heart as the vista is too much for the eyes. The mountain peaks were to the left and the right, diminishing with distance and changing in color from mocha to azure. Far below and off in the distance were roads, thin black scars going from nowhere to nothing.

Once, these roads were of importance; so important that millions of Spanish brothers fought against each other for possession. Twenty-five years ago, the blood of Spain's fine young men dried on these roads, just as, one hundred years ago, the blood of Americans soaked into the loamy fields at Manassas.

The reason — if one can oversimplify — was a mistake in names. The government of Azana called itself Republican as it was being absorbed by the Communist cadres of Barcelona and Madrid. On the other side, Mussolini and Hitler thought they could absorb the rebellious generals — Mola, Franco, Moscardo, and leaders like Jose Antonio — into the monolith of fascism. Both were mistaken.

For this, a million died in a national convulsion. The generals won the war. Franco won the peace. I stood looking out over the parapet at the summit of the mountain as the abbott, in limping English, explained why Franco had built the thing which was under our feet inside the mountain — a cathedral longer than St. Peter's in Rome, called Valle de los Caidos — Valley of the Fallen.

"It was in 1940," said the Fray, "that Franco decided to build the basilica. Not for one side — but for both." He pointed below. "You have seen the Capilla del Sepulchro?" I nodded. "It is the side altar where the cross is bare and the dead Christ lies at the foot. Behind that wall, there are 30,000 soldiers of both sides buried in five galleries. I will show you."

I was looking at the Guadarrama Mountains and thinking that, in the inexorability of time, even they are not permanent. "One way," I heard the Fray say, "one day Franco put his arm around Moscardo and said: 'Pepe, let us go to find the valley of the fallen.' Moscardo was not enthused, because he knew that Franco likes to walk.

"Still, he went. They drove awhile, then they got out down there, and began to climb the mountains. This one to the left was the biggest, so the two generals climbed to the top. Franco saw a farmer and said: 'What do you call this mountain?' The man said: 'The loftiest.' Franco is not much to smile. But he smiled and said: 'It is an agreeable name, but I like that one.' He was pointing to this mountain.

"'What do you call it?' he said. The farmer said: 'El Risco de la Nava.' Franco patted Moscardo on the back.

'That is the one,' he said. 'It overlooks the entire valley.' Because Generalissimo is the supreme, and sole authority in Spain, he could order a cathedral to be built inside a mountain."

Soldiers, laborers, architects, sculptors, prisoners, artists, engineers, stone cutters, dynamiters, draughtsmen in the scores of thousands worked for 20 years to make this monument. First they had to build roads and bridges through the passes to get to La Nava. Then they studied the gigantic boulders, aging smooth in the sun and the snow, and made test borings.

No matter how insoluble the problem, it was worked over by human intelligence and beaten into submission. For example, the ceiling of the cathedral consists of huge bracelets of smooth granite curving across the top. Between the bands are the actual boulders of the mountain. The engineers said that this would not do, because the moisture of the mountain peak would leak down into the cathedral. The problem appeared to be beyond solution. Then someone came up with the answer. Permit the mountain boulders to show through the ceiling, but, above them, build an air space between the boulders and the peak.

The cathedral is dry. I listened to the abbott. "How is it," I said, "that you were selected to head the monastery?" The dark eyes twinkled behind the steel-rimmed glasses. "I met Franco once, a long time ago, at a festival. We did not meet again until years later. It was a surprise that he remembered.

"He came to me and said: 'What do you do now?' I said: 'I teach medieval history,' he laughed. 'We must do something,' he said politely, 'to bring you down to current history. You will have charge of the Valley of the Fallen.'" . . .

Still No Cure Or Preventive For Common Cold

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Colds and other respiratory tract infections are the largest single disease problem of man. Most of us have one to three bouts of sore throat, sniffles, or bronchitis a year, lasting five to eight days. Recovery is the rule but the complications may be serious.

Colds travel in all circles of society and from one person to another within a short period of time. They are contagious and are passed along when the causative virus is inhaled or carried to the nose and mouth via contaminated fingers or food.

This is the reasoning behind our plea to those with colds to avoid others, to cover the nose and mouth when sneezing or coughing, and to wash the hands frequently, particularly when handling food. Stay home when there is fever or symptoms are of more than average severity.

We must rely upon established remedies until a preventive or a cure is found. But be sensible and avoid nostrums that make millionaires out of those who promise "prompt relief or cure."

Recovery is hastened by getting ample rest, additional fluids and moisture, and drugs that relieve congestion, sore throat, and other unpleasant symptoms. The wonder drugs should be reserved for complications or the more serious infections. Call your physician for expert advice — without fail, if fever persists more than two days.

Most of us work to live and cannot avoid others who insist upon going to school or work despite everything. Some help can be obtained by remaining in top physical condition when colds are rife. Get enough sleep and avoid exceses. Avoid overheated and dry rooms which lower the resistance of the nasal membranes. Extra humidity can be obtained through a commercial humidifier, turning on the hot water, or placing pans of water on the radiator. Get plenty of fresh air and exercise.

PANCREATITIS

W. J. N. writes: Can inflammation of the pancreas be cleared up without a doctor or medicine?

REPLY

There is an outside chance that the disease will heal spontaneously. But pancreatitis is more painful and more serious than the majority of gastro-intestinal infections and I would recommend medical treatment.

DIET OR MEDICINE

D. M. writes: Can a gouty person eat normally between attacks or must he remain on a strict diet all the time?

REPLY

He should remain on a strict diet unless he takes Benemid to haten the elimination of uric acid from the kidneys. A person with mild gout can allow himself several servings of meat a week.

FEELING NO PAIN

H. S. writes: My neighbors are convinced an intoxicated person cannot hurt himself. I say he is more likely to do so because he can't see the dangers around him. Please comment.

REPLY

The drunk can and does hurt himself, despite the common notion to the contrary. He may be too numb to feel his injuries and awakens in the morning with bruises and sore muscles.

ONION NOT CLEANSER

G. S. writes: Does onion soup clean the blood?

REPLY

No. The blood is self-cleansing, so that we needn't eat soap, detergents, onions, or garlic for this purpose.

SCAR REMOVAL

R. R. writes: Can dermabrasion to remove acne scars be done at home?

REPLY

No, but it can be done in the physician's office.

TOMORROW: Sore, tender muscles.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

"The world's two greatest pointkillers," declares Don Quinn, "as everyone must know, are waiters and telephones. Most of us have experienced that shattering moment, when, lunching with somebody we want to make sure realizes we have a great sense of humor, we've crept up to the punchline of our very best story, only to have the waiter barge upon the scene, demanding, 'Who gets the roast beef hash?'"

Sister Annette writes about the time she took some third-graders in her parish to visit the zoo, then asked them to write a paragraph about the animals that interested them most. Wrote one moppet: "The animal that interested me most was the Warning Stand Back. Every time we looked at it he spit at us."

A resigned wife pointed to her husband stretched out in the garden hammock. "My husband," she explained, "believes that to keep healthy, every man must have a hobby. His is letting the birds watch him."

A 10-year-old girl, described by her doting mother as "temperamental," raised particular tantrums every time she was told it was time to go to bed. "I hate bed," she exclaimed one night. "If I took bed in school it would be my worst subject."

The Problem Of Telstar's Future

Before the dust of Congressional authorization settled, scientists were deeply engaged in many unbelievably intricate studies, so commonplace in space activities, to find a successor to Telstar. The satellite now orbiting our planet which provided such successful demonstrations a few weeks ago is only an experiment.

To find a successor is no easy task. It has not been decided whether the system to be utilized by the yet-to-be-formed private corporation authorized by Congress will be the close-in type represented by Telstar or a far-out relay network. The closer orbit, while providing easier control and protection from space radiation and particles, would require 10 times the number of satellites to cover the face of the earth.

If the scientific challenges presented by space communications are formidable, so are the economic aspects. As a privately financed corporation, the organization controlling use of the orbiting satellites cannot call upon government subsidies to keep afloat an economically unsound enterprise.

Little is known about the eventual cost of placing in orbit as many as 25 communications satellites, and replacing them every few years as they wear out. Less is known about the potential revenue-producing possibilities of the system.

Only one consideration has been apparent throughout the brief history of Telstar. That is that this is an inevitable development of free science, that worldwide communications will be a boon to mankind, and that ways will be found to make it economically sound.

Such optimism is a symbol of private energy and desire at work. It has its own message to tell the world.

These Days

Future Of Education

I have read carefully the reports of Vice Admiral Rickover on Russian and Swiss education. Now, I am reading his report, "Education for All Children, What We Can Learn from England." Actually, this is not a book, but the Hearings before the Committee on Appropriations of the House of Representatives and copies are obtainable by writing to the Committee.

Admiral Rickover is the father of the nuclear submarine and is therefore an heroic figure in American life. He got into the educational field because he needed men to work on the nuclear submarine. He said:

"I am a customer for the products of our schools. I tried to get people to help me do a job in nuclear power development, and I found the product of our schools quite unsatisfactory, so I set out to find the reasons."

He has devoted himself to the problem of American education not only by studying our schools, but by making comparisons with the educational systems of other countries and by getting up special schools for the men who have to work in nuclear physics.

Rickover says:

"You can inform yourself about anything in two ways: by personal experience and by studying the experience of others. Personal experience is necessarily limited by the kind of life you lead and the kind of work you do. But study of the experience of others is limited only by the time you can find to study, to read, to correspond or to talk with experts. Now anybody can read books . . ."

Unfortunately the professional educator is not too concerned with the fact that when Rickover and thousands of other productive men put the educators' work to test, they find their system wanting. We all get secretaries who cannot spell, researchers who know no source material, accountants whose figures go awry, etc. Of this, Rickover says:

"Like most bureaucracies, this huge organization would like to escape lay criticism and tries to do so, by constantly using the stereotyped argument that only 'professionals' or 'inside' critics can judge the performance of other professionals and anyway, nobody can judge the schools unless he has personally inspected every school in the country, sat in every classroom of every school and listened to every child in every classroom of every school.

"Now these are splendid gimmicks if all that the educators want is to save themselves the trouble to answer criticism of the schools. The most effective critics have almost always been outsiders—individuals working on their own, individuals who have no access to public funds that finance junkets of educators around the world. These days they rarely obtain even a foundation grant."

But the real test as to whether an educational system is worthwhile is its product. An educated man is really one who is capable of knowing everything and of applying his knowledge when called upon to do so. There are no limits to the capacity of the human mind. The only restrictions are time and the will to labor. To this might be added, the need for direction.

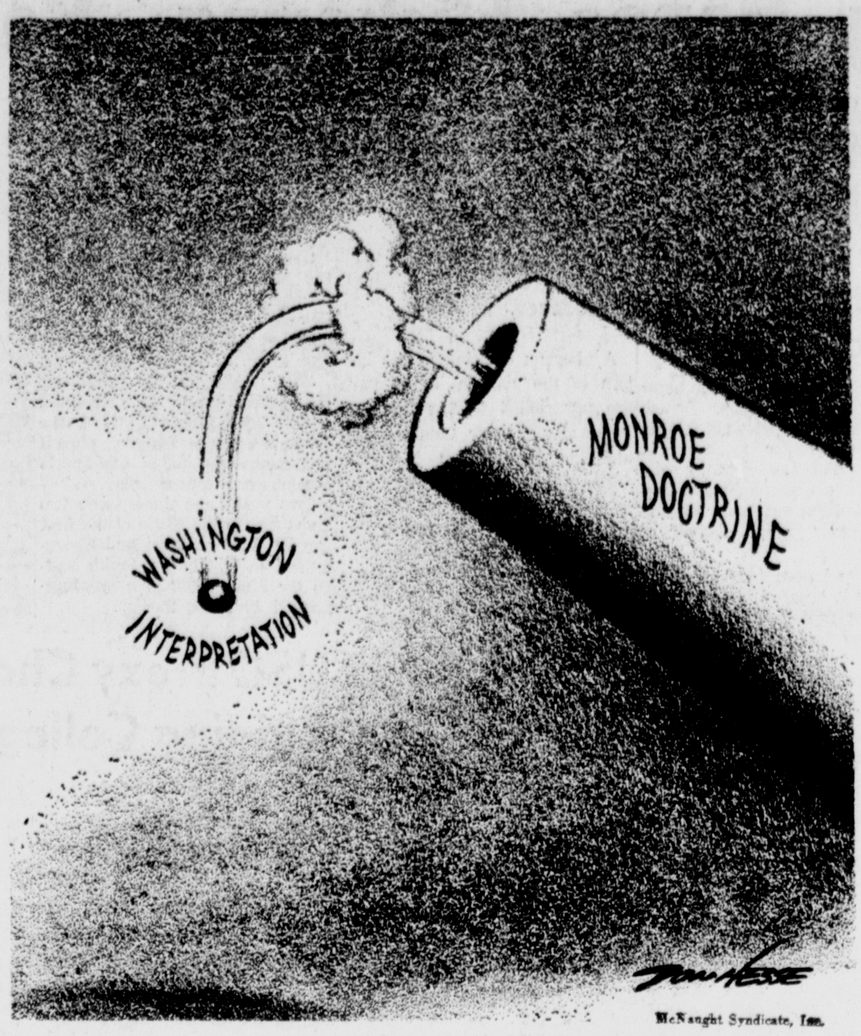

Admiral Rickover says of this:

"As a practical man I am not much interested in the mystique or esoterics of education which fascinate so many of our professional educators. I freely admit I judge schools by their products. Literally thousands of these products pass through my hands and those of my leading scientists and engineers when we interview young people who apply for positions as designers and builders of nuclear reactors or as officers and men to operate our nuclear ships. I find the percentage so qualified to be deplorably small. Those selected we must send to special schools set up and run by our own naval reactors group. These schools do not teach reactor technology alone; they also have to teach many basic subjects which abroad have already been taught in the regular schools. My 'school system' of six schools enrolls about 2,500 students at different levels from high school to graduate university. So, I can claim some personal experience with educating young Americans."

I have just started to read this book and am excited by what I have seen so far. It is not that we need to imitate Russia or Switzerland or Great Britain; it is rather that it is necessary for us to reorganize our educational system so that our people can both know and do.

Mismatched Caliber

Time For A Hard Look At Some Hard Facts

By David Lawrence

BERLIN

One of the lurking dangers to this threatened city is the kind of reasoning that was the real cause of the Pearl Harbor disaster.

Before Pearl Harbor, it must be remembered, the U. S. hign command had a whole series of unshakeable convictions about things the Japanese would never do. The possibility of an attack on Pearl Harbor was absolutely ruled out by the War and Navy Departments. The possibility of an attack on the Philippines was absolutely ruled out by Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Behind all this lay the belief that the Japanese would think like Americans. They were expected to know, in fact, that the U. S. would never go to war unless directly attacked. Hence they were expected to leave our Pacific positions untouched on their flank, and to proceed directly, in perfect confidence, to an attack on the Netherlands Indies.

As this reporter learned the day before Pearl Harbor, even the brilliant MacArthur was blinded by the foregoing line of reasoning. There was no plot. The hard facts on the other side of the ledger were simply ignored, because the kind of thing they indicated was thought to be incredible. The result was Pearl Harbor.

The reappearance of Pearl Harbor-style reasoning in the Berlin crisis is revealed by the often parroted slogans: "The Soviets will never risk a big war for Berlin!" and "Khrushchev will never give Ulbricht the power to start a big war!" and "The Russians will never use the East German army; their morale is too poor!"

All these slogans may well be 100 per cent true. One must pray that they are. But their truth depends on the Soviets' thinking about Berlin as we do; and therefore it is prudent to take a hard look at the hard facts accumulating on the other side of the ledger. These facts largely concern the intensive military preparations of the Soviets and East Germans, and particularly the East Germans.

The kind of action that is seemingly being prepared has already been suggested in a previous report. In brief, the Soviets seem to be preparing to sign their famous peace treaty, and then to leave the East Germans to defend those "sovereign rights" Khrushchev is always saying the treaty will confer on East Germany.

If this is correct, the Western will to defend Berlin will be initially tested by East Germans, just as American resolution was tested by North Koreans in Korea and by Communist Chinese at Quemoy. Even such a limited test will be breathlessly dangerous, but it will still leave the Kremlin free to go to the U. N., or to go to war in earnest, or to do many other things, depending on the test's results. How, then, do the above-listed slogans apply?

Taking them in reverse order, the morale of the East German army is quite probably fragile enough to be broken by one bad beating. But the wisest observers here believe the Soviets can count on the East German divisions to put up a good show in the first round, until they have been beaten at least once. By then, it must be noted, the Western will to defend Berlin will be rather fully tested.

As for slogan number two, about Khrushchev's fear of the irresponsible Ulbricht, no leader in the whole Soviet bloc is such a total puppet as Ulbricht. Furthermore, if the new doctrine of Secretary of Defense MacNamara means anything, the initial Western response to an East German attempt to take control of the Berlin access routes will be a conventional response.

So we come to the most often repeated slogan, that the Soviets will not risk a big war for Berlin. Quite aside from the fact that Khrushchev keeps saying precisely the same thing about the United States, what is really meant by this slogan? Does it mean the Soviets will not accept 1 per cent of risk? If you think the odds are 9 to 1 in your favor, is not a gamble to win the world rather tempting?

If the Soviet plan is anything like that outlined above, they certainly wish to minimize the risks. But it is also pretty certain that they are under grave pressure to take some sort of risk to win an early victory. This problem and their calculation of risks must both be examined in another report.

Calling Out Reserves Reminiscent Of Tension In Berlin Last Summer

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON.—The tense situation over Berlin and Cuba this summer "is just where he came in" last summer.

Approximately one year ago I was talking to Nikita Khrushchev on the shore of the Black Sea regarding Berlin and his conference at Vienna with President Kennedy.

The Vienna Conference took place in June. Kennedy subsequently called out the reserves, and sent 56,000 U. S. troops to West Germany. Khrushchev immediately sent 60,000 Russian troops to East Germany, plus 10,000 Poles, plus an undetermined number of Czechs. His total over-all strength in and around East Germany was estimated at about 600,000 against 200,000 U. S. combat troops in West Germany.

Once, these roads were of importance; so important that millions of Spanish brothers fought against each other for possession. Twenty-five years ago, the blood of Spain's fine young men dried on these roads, just as, one hundred years ago, the blood of Americans soaked into the loamy fields at Manassas.

The reason — if one can oversimplify — was a mistake in names. The government of Azana called itself Republican as it was being absorbed by the Communist cadres of Barcelona and Madrid. On the other side, Mussolini and Hitler thought they could absorb the rebellious generals — Mola, Franco, Moscardo, and leaders like Jose Antonio — into the monolith of fascism. Both were mistaken.

For this, a million died in a national convulsion. The generals won the war. Franco won the peace. I stood looking out over the parapet at the summit of the mountain as the abbott, in limping English, explained why Franco had built the thing which was under our feet inside the mountain — a cathedral longer than St. Peter's in Rome, called Valle de los Caidos — Valley of the Fallen.

"It was in 1940," said the Fray, "that Franco decided to build the basilica. Not for one side — but for both." He pointed below. "You have seen the Capilla del Sepulchro?" I nodded. "It is the side altar where the cross is bare and the dead Christ lies at the foot. Behind that wall, there are 30,000 soldiers of both sides buried in five galleries. I will show you."

I was looking at the Guadarrama Mountains and thinking that, in the inexorability of time, even they are not permanent. "One way," I heard the Fray say, "one day Franco put his arm around Moscardo and said: 'Pepe, let us go to find the valley of the fallen.' Moscardo was not enthused, because he knew that Franco likes to walk.

"Still, he went. They drove awhile, then they got out down there, and began to climb the mountains. This one to the left was the biggest, so the two generals climbed to the top. Franco saw a farmer and said: 'What do you call this mountain?' The man said: 'The loftiest.' Franco is not much to smile. But he smiled and said: 'It is an agreeable name, but I like that one.' He was pointing to this mountain.

"'What do you call it?' he said. The farmer said: 'El Risco de la Nava.' Franco patted Moscardo on the back.

'That is the one,' he said. 'It overlooks the entire valley.' Because Generalissimo is the supreme, and sole authority in Spain, he could order a cathedral to be built inside a mountain."

Soldiers, laborers, architects, sculptors, prisoners, artists, engineers, stone cutters, dynamiters, draughtsmen in the scores of thousands worked for 20 years to make this monument. First they had to build roads and bridges through the passes to get to La Nava. Then they studied the gigantic boulders, aging smooth in the sun and the snow, and made test borings.

No matter how insoluble the problem, it was worked over by human intelligence and beaten into submission. For example, the ceiling of the cathedral consists of huge bracelets of smooth granite curving across the top. Between the bands are the actual boulders of the mountain. The engineers said that this would not do, because the moisture of the mountain peak would leak down into the cathedral. The problem appeared to be beyond solution. Then someone came up with the answer. Permit the mountain boulders to show through the ceiling, but, above them, build an air space between the boulders and the peak.

The cathedral is dry. I listened to the abbott. "How is it," I said, "that you were selected to head the monastery?" The dark eyes twinkled behind the steel-rimmed glasses. "I met Franco once, a long time ago, at a festival. We did not meet again until years later. It was a surprise that he remembered.

"He came to me and said: 'What do you do now?' I said: 'I teach medieval history,' he laughed. 'We must do something,' he said politely, 'to bring you down to current history. You will have charge of the Valley of the Fallen.'" . . .

Still No Cure Or Preventive For Common Cold

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Colds and other respiratory tract infections are the largest single disease problem of man. Most of us have one to three bouts of sore throat, sniffles, or bronchitis a year, lasting five to eight days. Recovery is the rule but the complications may be serious.

Colds travel in all circles of society and from one person to another within a short period of time. They are contagious and are passed along when the causative virus is inhaled or carried to the nose and mouth via contaminated fingers or food.

This is the reasoning behind our plea to those with colds to avoid others, to cover the nose and mouth when sneezing or coughing, and to wash the hands frequently, particularly when handling food. Stay home when there is fever or symptoms are of more than average severity.

We must rely upon established remedies until a preventive or a cure is found. But be sensible and avoid nostrums that make millionaires out of those who promise "prompt relief or cure."

Recovery is hastened by getting ample rest, additional fluids and moisture, and drugs that relieve congestion, sore throat, and other unpleasant symptoms. The wonder drugs should be reserved for complications or the more serious infections. Call your physician for expert advice — without fail, if fever persists more than two days.

Most of us work to live and cannot avoid others who insist upon going to school or work despite everything. Some help can be obtained by remaining in top physical condition when colds are rife. Get enough sleep and avoid exceses. Avoid overheated and dry rooms which lower the resistance of the nasal membranes. Extra humidity can be obtained through a commercial humidifier, turning on the hot water, or placing pans of water on the radiator. Get plenty of fresh air and exercise.

PANCREATITIS

W. J. N. writes: Can inflammation of the pancreas be cleared up without a doctor or medicine?

REPLY

There is an outside chance that the disease will heal spontaneously. But pancreatitis is more painful and more serious than the majority of gastro-intestinal infections and I would recommend medical treatment.

DIET OR MEDICINE

D. M. writes: Can a gouty person eat normally between attacks or must he remain on a strict diet all the time?

REPLY

He should remain on a strict diet unless he takes Benemid to hasten the elimination of uric acid from the kidneys. A person with mild gout can allow himself several servings of meat a week.

FEELING NO PAIN

H. S. writes: My neighbors are convinced an intoxicated person cannot hurt himself. I say he is more likely to do so because he can't see the dangers around him. Please comment.

REPLY

The drunk can and does hurt himself, despite the common notion to the contrary. He may be too numb to feel his injuries and awakens in the morning with bruises and sore muscles.

ONION NOT CLEANSER

G. S. writes: Does onion soup clean the blood?

REPLY

No. The blood is self-cleansing, so that we needn't eat soap, detergents, onions, or garlic for this purpose.

SCAR REMOVAL

R. R. writes: Can dermabrasion to remove acne scars be done at home?

REPLY

No, but it can be done in the physician's office.

TOMORROW: Sore, tender muscles.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

"The world's two greatest pointkillers," declares Don Quinn, "as everyone must know, are waiters and telephones. Most of us have experienced that shattering moment, when, lunching with somebody we want to make sure realizes we have a great sense of humor, we've crept up to the punchline of our very best story, only to have the waiter barge upon the scene, demanding, 'Who gets the roast beef hash?'"

Sister Annette writes about the time she took some third-graders in her parish to visit the zoo, then asked them to write a paragraph about the animals that interested them most. Wrote one moppet: "The animal that interested me most was the Warning Stand Back. Every time we looked at it he spit at us."

A resigned wife pointed to her husband stretched out in the garden hammock. "My husband," she explained, "believes that to keep healthy, every man must have a hobby. His is letting the birds watch him."

A 10-year-old girl, described by her doting mother as "temperamental," raised particular tantrums every time she was told it was time to go to bed. "I hate bed," she exclaimed one night. "If I took bed in school it would be my worst subject."

Purkey Keeps Reds' Flag Hopes Flickering, Beats Cards 6-2

Kasko Clouts 2-Run Homer In 9th Frame

Musial, Boyer Hit For Circuit; Bob Gibson Is Loser

ST. LOUIS (UPI) —Bob Purkey kept the champion Cincinnati Reds' pennant hopes flickering Tuesday night with a strong three-hitter while Eddie Kasko belted a three run homer in the ninth inning to clinch a 6-2 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals.

Another ex-Cardinal, Don Blasingame, drove in two of Cincinnati's first three runs off starter-loser Bob Gibson, the Redbirds fighting a losing battle in an attempt to catch up.

Gibson allowed seven hits, striking out eight while walking two, but couldn't overcome a rocky start and finish. A hit batsman, Blasingame's triple and Vada Pinson's sacrifice fly gave Cincinnati a 2-0 first inning lead.

Stan Musial hit his 17th homer in the St. Louis first inning, then Ken Boyer tied the score with his 21st homer in the third inning.

The run that actually won for the Reds was produced in the fifth inning when Leo Cardenas got his first of two hits, a double and scored on Blasingame's single to left.

Purkey didn't allow a hit after rookie outfielder Mike Shannon, in his big league debut, singled in the fourth, allowing only two more base runners, one on a walk and another on an error.

Jofre Retains Bantam Title

Brazilian Knocks Out Medel In 6th

SAO PAULO, Brazil (UPI) — Unbeaten Eder Jofre of Sao Paulo made a successful fifth defense of the world bantamweight championship Tuesday night by knocking out Mexican Joe Medel in the sixth round of their return fight here at Ibirapuera Stadium.

Jofre's 13th consecutive knockout stretched his professional unbeaten string of bouts to 45, including three draws.

Slender, black-haired Eder weighed 117½ pounds to Medel's 117, as he did a quicker kayo job on stocky Medel than in their first bout at Los Angeles, Calif., on Aug. 18, 1960, before Jofre became champion. That night, Eder knocked out Joe in the 10th round.

Because of his punch, 26-year-old Jofre was favored at 13-5 to win again Tuesday night although Medal had come through 10 bouts since his 1960 fight with Jofre without a defeat, although he had one draw.

As Jofre scored his 42nd victory and 33rd knockout in 45 fights, 24-year-old Medel suffered his sixth knockout and 18th defeat in 53 bouts, and lost his ranking as top 118-pound contender.

Marichal's Sore Foot Is Big Factor In Giants Pennant Bid

Juan May See Action This Weekend; Reds Face Frisco Tonight

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Ace pitcher Juan Marichal's sore right foot remains a big and questionable factor in the San Francisco Giants' bid for the National League pennant.

"It's still sore, very sore," the 18-game winner from the Dominican Republic said Tuesday after running for the first time since spraining it during last Wednesday's 3-0 victory at Los Angeles.

Marichal, trainer Frank Bowman and Manager Alvin Dark aren't sure when the right-hander can return to action. But the skipper hopes it will be this weekend.

"Whenever he's ready to go, we'll slip him right back into the rotation," Dark said. "Whoever's turn it is will move ahead one day."

Hurt Fielding Bunt

That's the high value put on the 24-year-old who had an 18-10 record and a 3.21 earned run average when put out of action while fielding Willie Davis' swinging bunt.

Fortunately he was not spiked. But his right foot is the one on which he pushes off and follows through while hurling.

Dark named Billy Pierce, 35-year-old former Chicago White Sox leftie, to pitch in Cincinnati Wednesday night and Mike McCormick to take over Marichal's turn on Thursday.

Loss of Marichal for even 10 days makes things tougher for the Giants. He, Jack Sanford and southpaw Bill O'Dell all have enjoyed their finest major league seasons this campaign, keeping the Giants in red-hot pennant contention.

Sanford, the 33-year-old fastball thrower, passed the 20-game winning mark for the first time.

O'Dell, who won his 17th game Monday, figures that for the first time in his 8-year major league career he has a regular starting job and it has helped him immeasurably.

Could Win Pennant

Asked if he might win 20, the leftie quickly replied, "Sure, I could win 20. And we have a chance to win the pennant. Winning the pennant is more important to me than winning 20 games."

Ralph Dupas Disqualified For Butting

Loses In 6th Round To Curvis In London

LONDON (UPI) — Southpaw Brian Curvis of Wales, British and Empire welterweight champion, moved closer to a world title fight Tuesday night by winning on a six-round disqualification for butting over second-ranking contender Ralph Dupas of New Orleans.

Dupas had been favored at 2-1 over Curvis because in the American's last previous fight on July 13 he had lost a hotly disputed decision to world champion Emile Griffith at Las Vegas, Nev., and was launching his campaign to get Griffith back into the ring again.

Pays $500 Forfeit

For Tuesday night's bout before a sellout 12,000 in Wembley Arena, dark-haired Dupas weighed a costly 148¼ pounds and had to pay a $500 forfeit for scaling more than the contracted 147-pound division limit.

Curvis, 25, registered 146¼ as he scored his 25th victory in 26 professional bouts.

It was only the third time in 27-year old Dupas' career of 115 fights that he had failed to last a scheduled distance for any reason. He was knocked out by Kid Centella (2) in 1950 and by the then lightweight champion Joe Brown (8) in 1958.

Dupas, who had been knocked down for a count of six in the first round and had been warned four times by the referee was finally disqualified at 2:58 of the sixth.

Curvis was cheered wildly by the jammed spectators for his superior performance and victory but Dupas was booed thunderously. The New Orleans veteran made a gesture of disgust when he was disqualified but did not make any immediate sign of protesting the disqualification.

Dupas Is Floored

In the first round, Curvis floored Ralph with a smart right-left combination to the head. In the second session, Curvis suffered a cut on the bridge of the nose in the third, Dupas in turn was cut on the right brow.

As the sixth opened, Dupas crowded the Swansea socker into the ropes. Dupas was warned for holding, then for butting. Shortly thereafter the referee made his ruling as the two fighters were at close quarters again on the ropes.

Misfits Score Tourney Upset; Moose Wins

Celanese Ousted By Independent Tossers, 11-10

A nine-run uprising in the bottom of the seventh inning gave the unheralded Misfits an 11-10 upset victory over Celanese last night in the Western Maryland Softball Tournament at Penn Avenue Field.

In the first game of last night's doubleheader, the Moose capitalized on the wildness of pitcher Rich Smith to hand the Sports Shoppe a 4-2 setback.

Next Games Thursday

No tournament action is slated for today, but first round competition will resume tomorrow with another twinbill. The Old Germans of the Rec League will oppose Hyndman in the first game at 6:15 p.m., while Central Lunch takes on the Big Five, an Inter-Church League entry, in the nightcap.

Misfits' pitcher Gary Crabtree raced all the way home from second with the winning run when Celanese third sacker Walt Basilio booted Sam Brehm's grounder.

Until the wild seventh Celanese starter O'Baker had surrendered just four hits. He was charged with seven runs before being relieved by Nile Shuck, who took the loss. A base-loaded home run by Ben Miller was the big blow for the Misfits, an independent aggregation managed by Clarence Kean.

Gary Henry collected three of the Misfits' 11 hits and Frank Cornachia contributed two. No Celanese player had more than one, but Bobby Goss got on base four times and scored three runs.

Wild pitches by the fireballing Smith directly accounted for three of the four Moose runs as the Rocking Chair League playoff champions eliminated the Sports Shoppe from tourney play.

Two years ago these same two clubs met in the finals of the first annual Western Maryland Tournament. In that battle, Smith bested the Moose, 4-3, in a pressure-packed 10-inning thriller.

Ernie Condon went all the way for the Moose last night and gave up only four hits, one a bases-empty homer by John Teter in the fifth inning. Bob Price and player-manager Herman Lewis had two hits apiece for the winners, with the latter driving across the only Moose run that was batted in.

Berra Homer Tops Tigers In 10th, 8-7

Humphreys Victim As New York Wins

DETROIT (UPI) — Icy-veined Yogi Berra's leadoff homer in the 10th inning Tuesday night broke a 7-7 tie and powered the league-leading New York Yankees to an 8-7 victory over the Detroit Tigers.

Berra's timely-blast, his 10th homer, off rookie Bob Humphreys put an end to a three hour and 40 minute marathon in which 41 players were used. Each team employed six pitchers with the victory finally going to the Yankees last one, Jim Bouton.

Berra, a late-inning replacement, also hit a pinch sacrifice fly to drive in one of three Yankees runs in the eighth which gave them a 7-5 lead.

The Tigers forced the issue in the eighth with a two-run rally off righthander Marshall Bridges to tie the count 7-7. The rally came on Dick McAuliffe's 11th homer, a single by Dick Brown and Chico Fernandez' triple.

Earlier the Yankees had taken a 4-0 lead in the first four innings led by homers by Tony Kubek and Bill Skowron. The early Yankee power sent their old nemisis, sore-armed Frank Lary, to the showers.

Slapping starter Jim Coates for five straight singles and two runs before a man was retired, the Tigers took a 5-4 lead in the fourth on five runs. Vic Wetz' pinch-single with the bases loaded after Roland Sheldon relieved Coates scored two more runs and Bill Bruton's double off Sheldon brought in another before Tex Clevenger put out the fire.

The Yankees lashed out 15 hits while the Tigers collected 14. Kubek led the onslaught with four hits, including his homer and a triple. Bobby Richardson and Mickey Mantle each had three hits.

USC Prexy Charges Pros Ruining College Athletics

Says Search For Dollar Strangling College Programs

By ART SPANDER
United Press International

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Dr. Norman Topping, president of University of Southern California, warned the nation's higher institutions of learning Tuesday that the steady encroachment of professional athletics could kill off successful collegiate athletic programs.

Topping, speaking to a group of sportswriters touring the Big Six football camps, issued the statement following a decision by the Los Angeles Coliseum commission to give only two Saturday dates at the sports arena to UCLA and USC.

"Look what professional sports did to New York City," said Topping. "Look at Columbia and Fordham now. Look what it did in San Francisco. The football programs at University of San Francisco, Santa Clara and St. Mary's were killed by professional football.

"I'm disturbed by the constant encroachment of the professionals on college sports."

Topping added he was more concerned about the financial problems involved in collegiate athletics than the current trend toward rising academic standards.

"You've all seen and met great athletes who also are excellent students," said Topping. "It has been proven that sports and athletics are not mutually exclusive."

Topping said, however, that professional teams in their constant search for the dollar are unknowingly strangling college and university athletics. A continuing fall in attendance at college events events could force curtailment of big time athletics in many schools.

Stengel Reads "Riot Act" To Mets At Drill

Manager Angered By Sloppy Play

NEW YORK (UPI) — Manager Casey Stengel read the "riot act" to the New York Mets Tuesday while running them through a lengthy drill at the Polo Grounds on what was supposed to be an off day.

The 72-year-old manager, angered by sloppy play in recent days which has resulted in a "new" losing streak of seven straight, had the entire squad on hand, personally reviewing fundamentals, such as covering first base on bunts, throwing to the right bases and cutoffs on throws from the outfield.

The drill was considered unusual for this late in the season for a team which is guaranteed to finish in last place. Such drills, however, are not unusual for teams in the pennant race.

The Mets already have lost 110 games and won only 35 with 17 to go in their first season in the National League. Only five more losses and the Mets will tie the NL record high of 115 set by the 1935 Braves. Seven more would tie the major league record of 117 set by the 1916 Athletics. However, both the Braves and A's played 154-game seasons when they set their marks.

Kelso Withdrawn From UN Handicap

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Kelso, the topweighted horse in the invitational $100,000 United Nations Handicap Saturday at Atlantic City, was withdrawn Tuesday by trainer Carl Hanford.

Hanford said the Bohemia Stable champion of 1960 and 1961 "doesn't seem to be right" but explained he didn't know what if anything was wrong with the 5-year-old horse.

A field of 10 or 11 is expected for the 1 3-16-mile race over the grass course here, including two former winners, T. V Lark (1960) and Oink (1961.

Purkey Keeps Reds' Flag Hopes Flickering, Beats Cards 6-2

Kasko Clouts 2-Run Homer In 9th Frame

Musial, Boyer Hit For Circuit; Bob Gibson Is Loser

ST. LOUIS (UPI) —Bob Purkey kept the champion Cincinnati Reds' pennant hopes flickering Tuesday night with a strong three-hitter while Eddie Kasko belted a three run homer in the ninth inning to clinch a 6-2 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals.

Another ex-Cardinal, Don Blasingame, drove in two of Cincinnati's first three runs off starter-loser Bob Gibson, the Redbirds fighting a losing battle in an attempt to catch up.

Gibson allowed seven hits, striking out eight while walking two, but couldn't overcome a rocky start and finish. A hit batsman, Blasingame's triple and Vada Pinson's sacrifice fly gave Cincinnati a 2-0 first inning lead.

Stan Musial hit his 17th homer in the St. Louis first inning, then Ken Boyer tied the score with his 21st homer in the third inning.

The run that actually won for the Reds was produced in the fifth inning when Leo Cardenas got his first of two hits, a double and scored on Blasingame's single to left.

Purkey didn't allow a hit after rookie outfielder Mike Shannon, in his big league debut, singled in the fourth, allowing only two more base runners, one on a walk and another on an error.

Jofre Retains Bantam Title

Brazilian Knocks Out Medel In 6th

SAO PAULO, Brazil (UPI) — Unbeaten Eder Jofre of Sao Paulo made a successful fifth defense of the world bantamweight championship Tuesday night by knocking out Mexican Joe Medel in the sixth round of their return fight here at Ibirapuera Stadium.

Jofre's 13th consecutive knockout stretched his professional unbeaten string of bouts to 45, including three draws.

Slender, black-haired Eder weighed 117½ pounds to Medel's 117, as he did a quicker kayo job on stocky Medel than in their first bout at Los Angeles, Calif., on Aug. 18, 1960, before Jofre became champion. That night, Eder knocked out Joe in the 10th round.

Because of his punch, 26-year-old Jofre was favored at 13-5 to win again Tuesday night although Medal had come through 10 bouts since his 1960 fight with Jofre without a defeat, although he had one draw.

As Jofre scored his 42nd victory and 33rd knockout in 45 fights, 24-year-old Medel suffered his sixth knockout and 18th defeat in 53 bouts, and lost his ranking as top 118-pound contender.

Marichal's Sore Foot Is Big Factor In Giants Pennant Bid

Juan May See Action This Weekend; Reds Face Frisco Tonight

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Ace pitcher Juan Marichal's sore right foot remains a big and questionable factor in the San Francisco Giants' bid for the National League pennant.

"It's still sore, very sore," the 18-game winner from the Dominican Republic said Tuesday after running for the first time since spraining it during last Wednesday's 3-0 victory at Los Angeles.

Marichal, trainer Frank Bowman and Manager Alvin Dark aren't sure when the right-hander can return to action. But the skipper hopes it will be this weekend.

"Whenever he's ready to go, we'll slip him right back into the rotation," Dark said. "Whoever's turn it is will move ahead one day."

Hurt Fielding Bunt

That's the high value put on the 24-year-old who had an 18-10 record and a 3.21 earned run average when put out of action while fielding Willie Davis' swinging bunt.

Fortunately he was not spiked. But his right foot is the one on which he pushes off and follows through while hurling.

Dark named Billy Pierce, 35-year-old former Chicago White Sox leftie, to pitch in Cincinnati Wednesday night and Mike McCormick to take over Marichal's turn on Thursday.

Loss of Marichal for even 10 days makes things tougher for the Giants. He, Jack Sanford and southpaw Bill O'Dell all have enjoyed their finest major league seasons this campaign, keeping the Giants in red-hot pennant contention.

Sanford, the 33-year-old fastball thrower, passed the 20-game winning mark for the first time.

O'Dell, who won his 17th game Monday, figures that for the first time in his 8-year major league career he has a regular starting job and it has helped him immeasurably.

Could Win Pennant

Asked if he might win 20, the leftie quickly replied, "Sure, I could win 20. And we have a chance to win the pennant. Winning the pennant is more important to me than winning 20 games."

Ralph Dupas Disqualified For Butting

Loses In 6th Round To Curvis In London

LONDON (UPI) — Southpaw Brian Curvis of Wales, British and Empire welterweight champion, moved closer to a world title fight Tuesday night by winning on a six-round disqualification for butting over second-ranking contender Ralph Dupas of New Orleans.

Dupas had been favored at 2-1 over Curvis because in the American's last previous fight on July 13 he had lost a hotly disputed decision to world champion Emile Griffith at Las Vegas, Nev., and was launching his campaign to get Griffith back into the ring again.

Pays $500 Forfeit

For Tuesday night's bout before a sellout 12,000 in Wembley Arena, dark-haired Dupas weighed a costly 148¼ pounds and had to pay a $500 forfeit for scaling more than the contracted 147-pound division limit.

Curvis, 25, registered 146¼ as he scored his 25th victory in 26 professional bouts.

It was only the third time in 27-year old Dupas' career of 115 fights that he had failed to last a scheduled distance for any reason. He was knocked out by Kid Centella (2) in 1950 and by the then lightweight champion Joe Brown (8) in 1958.

Dupas, who had been knocked down for a count of six in the first round and had been warned four times by the referee was finally disqualified at 2:58 of the sixth.

Curvis was cheered wildly by the jammed spectators for his superior performance and victory but Dupas was booed thunderously. The New Orleans veteran made a gesture of disgust when he was disqualified but did not make any immediate sign of protesting the disqualification.

Dupas Is Floored

In the first round, Curvis floored Ralph with a smart right-left combination to the head. In the second session, Curvis suffered a cut on the bridge of the nose in the third, Dupas in turn was cut on the right brow.

As the sixth opened, Dupas crowded the Swansea socker into the ropes. Dupas was warned for holding, then for butting. Shortly thereafter the referee made his ruling as the two fighters were at close quarters again on the ropes.

Misfits Score Tourney Upset; Moose Wins

Celanese Ousted By Independent Tossers, 11-10

A nine-run uprising in the bottom of the seventh inning gave the unheralded Misfits an 11-10 upset victory over Celanese last night in the Western Maryland Softball Tournament at Penn Avenue Field.

In the first game of last night's doubleheader, the Moose capitalized on the wildness of pitcher Rich Smith to hand the Sports Shoppe a 4-2 setback.

Next Games Thursday

No tournament action is slated for today, but first round competition will resume tomorrow with another twinbill. The Old Germans of the Rec League will oppose Hyndman in the first game at 6:15 p.m., while Central Lunch takes on the Big Five, an Inter-Church League entry, in the nightcap.

Misfits' pitcher Gary Crabtree raced all the way home from second with the winning run when Celanese third sacker Walt Basilio booted Sam Brehm's grounder.

Until the wild seventh Celanese starter O'Baker had surrendered just four hits. He was charged with seven runs before being relieved by Nile Shuck, who took the loss. A base-loaded home run by Ben Miller was the big blow for the Misfits, an independent aggregation managed by Clarence Kean.

Gary Henry collected three of the Misfits' 11 hits and Frank Cornachia contributed two. No Celanese player had more than one, but Bobby Goss got on base four times and scored three runs.

Wild pitches by the fireballing Smith directly accounted for three of the four Moose runs as the Rocking Chair League playoff champions eliminated the Sports Shoppe from tourney play.

Two years ago these same two clubs met in the finals of the first annual Western Maryland Tournament. In that battle, Smith bested the Moose, 4-3, in a pressure-packed 10-inning thriller.

Ernie Condon went all the way for the Moose last night and gave up only four hits, one a bases-empty homer by John Teter in the fifth inning. Bob Price and player-manager Herman Lewis had two hits apiece for the winners, with the latter driving across the only Moose run that was batted in.

Berra Homer Tops Tigers In 10th, 8-7

Humphreys Victim As New York Wins

DETROIT (UPI) — Icy-veined Yogi Berra's leadoff homer in the 10th inning Tuesday night broke a 7-7 tie and powered the league-leading New York Yankees to an 8-7 victory over the Detroit Tigers.

Berra's timely-blast, his 10th homer, off rookie Bob Humphreys put an end to a three hour and 40 minute marathon in which 41 players were used. Each team employed six pitchers with the victory finally going to the Yankees last one, Jim Bouton.

Berra, a late-inning replacement, also hit a pinch sacrifice fly to drive in one of three Yankees runs in the eighth which gave them a 7-5 lead.

The Tigers forced the issue in the eighth with a two-run rally off righthander Marshall Bridges to tie the count 7-7. The rally came on Dick McAuliffe's 11th homer, a single by Dick Brown and Chico Fernandez' triple.

Earlier the Yankees had taken a 4-0 lead in the first four innings led by homers by Tony Kubek and Bill Skowron. The early Yankee power sent their old nemisis, sore-armed Frank Lary, to the showers.

Slapping starter Jim Coates for five straight singles and two runs before a man was retired, the Tigers took a 5-4 lead in the fourth on five runs. Vic Wetz' pinch-single with the bases loaded after Roland Sheldon relieved Coates scored two more runs and Bill Bruton's double off Sheldon brought in another before Tex Clevenger put out the fire.

The Yankees lashed out 15 hits while the Tigers collected 14. Kubek led the onslaught with four hits, including his homer and a triple. Bobby Richardson and Mickey Mantle each had three hits.

USC Prexy Charges Pros Ruining College Athletics

Says Search For Dollar Strangling College Programs

By ART SPANDER
United Press International

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Dr. Norman Topping, president of University of Southern California, warned the nation's higher institutions of learning Tuesday that the steady encroachment of professional athletics could kill off successful collegiate athletic programs.

Topping, speaking to a group of sportswriters touring the Big Six football camps, issued the statement following a decision by the Los Angeles Coliseum commission to give only two Saturday dates at the sports arena to UCLA and USC.

"Look what professional sports did to New York City," said Topping. "Look at Columbia and Fordham now. Look what it did in San Francisco. The football programs at University of San Francisco, Santa Clara and St. Mary's were killed by professional football.

"I'm disturbed by the constant encroachment of the professionals on college sports."

Topping added he was more concerned about the financial problems involved in collegiate athletics than the current trend toward rising academic standards.

"You've all seen and met great athletes who also are excellent students," said Topping. "It has been proven that sports and athletics are not mutually exclusive."

Topping said, however, that professional teams in their constant search for the dollar are unknowingly strangling college and university athletics. A continuing fall in attendance at college events events could force curtailment of big time athletics in many schools.

Hockey League Opens Oct. 11

MONTREAL (AP) — The Stanley Cup champion Toronto Maple Leafs and the Chicago Black Hawks, the same teams which closed the 1961-62 National Hockey League season almost five months ago, will open the circuit's 46th campaign Wednesday, Oct. 10.

This was disclosed Tuesday with the release of the 1962-63 schedule by Clarence Campbell, the league president.

The Leafs and Hawks will meet in Chicago where Toronto won the coveted cup April 22 with a 2-1 victory.

The campaign opens on two other fronts, Thursday, Oct. 11, with Montreal at Boston and Detroit at New York.

Giants' Jack Sanford Wins 16th Straight

Alou Clubs Homer After Hit Streak Stopped At Nine

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Right hander Jack Sanford, achieving his 16th straight victory, hurled San Francisco to a 2-0 triumph over the Pittsburgh Pirates Tuesday and the Giants again moved into a temporary first place tie with the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Los Angeles faced the Chicago Cubs Tuesday night and would regain a half-game lead in the National League by winning. A Chicago victory would put the Giants on top by the same margin.

Sanford, with the aid of Felipe Alou's 25th home run and two double plays, moved to within three wins of Rube Marquard's modern record—19 straight in one season — which he set with the New York Giants in 1912.

Now 22-6 for the season, Sanford sparked the Giants to their seventh consecutive win as he made Smoky Burgess hit into a pair of rally - killing double plays and struck out Bob Skinner with two on and two down in the eighth.

It was Sanford's second shutout of the season and he now has beaten the Pirates four times this year without a loss.

Alou, after his consecutive hit streak had been halted at nine safeties by loser Tom Sturdivant (8-4), cracked a single in the fourth inning to set up the first Giant run, then homered in the sixth.

Alou now has hit safely 11 times in his last 12 official trips. The Pirates outhit the Giants 8-4 but left seven men on base.

Grba And Lee Pitch LA Into 2d Place, 9-0

Three-Run Double By Thomas Paces 12-Hit Barrage

MINNEAPOLIS-St. PAUL (UPI) — Eli Grba and Don Lee combined to pitch the Los Angeles Angels into second place with a 4-hit, 9-0 victory over the Minnesota Twins.

The triumph enabled the Angels to sweep the two-game series in which the Twins were held scoreless and limited to five hits.

Grba scattered four singles—two by Vic Power and one each by Harmon Killebrew and Zoilo Versalles. Lee came in to pitch the final two innings after Grba tired.

The victory gave the Angels a half game lead over the Twins, who dropped into third place.

Los Angeles, which combed four Twins hurlers for 12 hits, put the game on ice with a five run ninth inning.

Lee Thomas' three-run double highlighted the inning.

The Angels scored single runs in the second and seventh and two in the sixth.

Jim Kaat, who was looking for his 17th victory, was charged with his 13th loss. Grba was credited with the victory which evened his record at 8-8.

Beekeeper Second In Del Mar Race

DEL MAR, Calif. (UPI) — Favored Slipped Disc scored an easy win Tuesday in the 15th running of the $84,615 Del Mar Futurity for two year olds, taking the lead early in the backstretch and then retaining it to the finish.

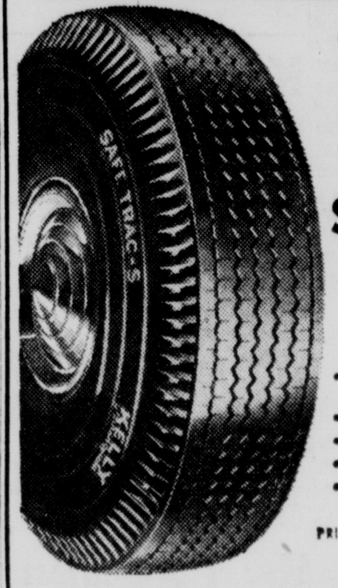

Jockey Roy Yaka got the favorite into stride and took the lead away from He's A Baby in the first quarter and easily pulled out to a five-length advantage going into the turn, but at the finish the jockey had to shake up his mount to retain the victory by about a length.

The longshot Beekeeper closed between horses in the stretch under a strong ride by Jack Leonard to finish second while Y Flash was third and Doolin Point finished fourth in the field of 13 starters.

Slipped Disc raced the six furlongs in 1:09 4-5 and earned a winner's purse of $56,115, approximately double the $28,800 he had earned in his ten previous starts in which he scored three victories and a second place.

Grba And Lee Pitch LA Into 2d Place, 9-0

Three-Run Double By Thomas Paces 12-Hit Barrage

MINNEAPOLIS-St. PAUL (UPI) — Eli Grba and Don Lee combined to pitch the Los Angeles Angels into second place with a 4-hit, 9-0 victory over the Minnesota Twins.

The triumph enabled the Angels to sweep the two-game series in which the Twins were held scoreless and limited to five hits.

Grba scattered four singles—two by Vic Power and one each by Harmon Killebrew and Zoilo Versalles. Lee came in to pitch the final two innings after Grba tired.

The victory gave the Angels a half game lead over the Twins, who dropped into third place.

Los Angeles, which combed four Twins hurlers for 12 hits, put the game on ice with a five run ninth inning.

Lee Thomas' three-run double highlighted the inning.

The Angels scored single runs in the second and seventh and two in the sixth.

Jim Kaat, who was looking for his 17th victory, was charged with his 13th loss. Grba was credited with the victory which evened his record at 8-8.

Slipped Disc Cops Futurity

Beekeeper Second In Del Mar Race

DEL MAR, Calif. (UPI) — Favored Slipped Disc scored an easy win Tuesday in the 15th running of the $84,615 Del Mar Futurity for two year olds, taking the lead early in the backstretch and then retaining it to the finish.

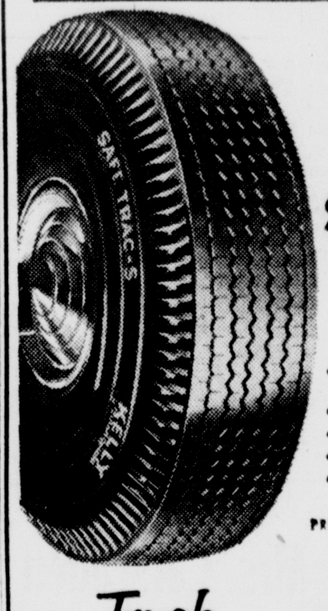

Jockey Roy Yaka got the favorite into stride and took the lead away from He's A Baby in the first quarter and easily pulled out to a five-length advantage going into the turn, but at the finish the jockey had to shake up his mount to retain the victory by about a length.

The longshot Beekeeper closed between horses in the stretch under a strong ride by Jack Leonard to finish second while Y Flash was third and Doolin Point finished fourth in the field of 13 starters.

Slipped Disc raced the six furlongs in 1:09 4-5 and earned a winner's purse of $56,115, approximately double the $28,800 he had earned in his ten previous starts in which he scored three victories and a second place.

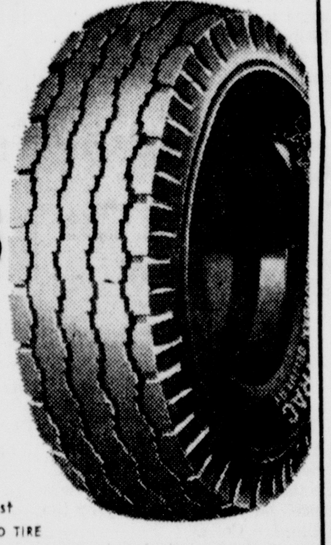

Slipped Disc was installed the 8-5 favorite by a closing day crowd of 10,404 race fans. He returned $5.40, $3.80 $2.60 across the board. Beekeeper paid $9.60 and $4.60, while Y Flash returned $2.60 to show.

Pitt And Miami To Tangle In College Football's Game Of Week

Panthers Will Rely On Passing Of Traficant

Mira Is Hurricanes' Best Bet; Game Set For Pitt Stadium

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Pitt Coach Johnny Michelosen admitted Tuesday "we don't know how good we are — yet." But he'll get a pretty fair idea Saturday when his Panthers meet Miami of Florida in college football's "Game of the Week" lid-lifter at the Stadium here.

The game will be on national television (CBS) starting at 1:30 p.m. EDT.

Last Seven In 1961

Michelosen, speaking at a mid-week briefing of sportswriters and sportscasters, admitted his squad "should be better" than the 1961 edition, which lost seven of 10 games.

"This club has a lot of enthusiasm," he said. "We've been very lucky as far as injuries are concerned in key positions. We have been more fortunate in this year's training period than we have been in a number of years."

The Panther boss singled out senior quarterback Jim Traficant of Youngstown, Ohio, as the key to Pitt's success - indicating that plans call for taking advantage of Traficant's passing ability.

"He's the best long passer I've had since I've been here (at Pitt) as head coach," Michelosen added.

On hand to represent the Hurricanes was publicist George Gallet, who relayed a not-too-surprising message from Miami Coach Andy Gustafson.

Calls Mira Best

"Gus feels that our George Mira is the best quarterback he's ever coached," Gallet said.

Then, speaking for himself Gallet continued:

"I think Mira's the best we've ever had at Miami. He and Fred Bertani (a sophomore from Norwin High School near Irwin, Pa.) give us the best one-two quarterback lineup we've ever had."

To make the Hurricanes feel at home in Pitt Stadium, Gallet said 16 live palm trees — each about 20 feet high — were being shipped north and will be displayed in the end zones.

Colts Ask Waivers On Steve Myhra

Kicked Celebrated Field Goal In 1958

BALTIMORE (AP) — Steve Myhra, who kicked one of the most celebrated field goals in National Football League history, was placed on waivers Tuesday by the Baltimore Colts.

The Colts also asked waivers on halfback Hezekiah Braxton, a rookie who was a sensation in the early pre-season exhibition games, reducing their roster to 36 players.

It was Myhra's 20-yard field goal with seven seconds remaining which sent the 1958 NFL title game into overtime. The Colts went on to defeat the New York Giants 23-17 in the league's only sudden-death battle.

A 28-year-old graduate of the University of North Dakota, Myhra has played five seasons with the Colts.

Myhra set team records with 21 field goals and 96 points last season. Three of his field goals won games in the last quarter—one with eight seconds remaining and another on the last play of the game.

In five seasons, Myhra booted 180 of 190 extra point attempts and 44 of 91 field goal tries for 312 points.

The 240-pounder was used as a guard or linebacker, mostly on specialized platoons, when he wasn't placekicking.

Gretel Breaks Boom During Test Race

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — The Australian America's Cup challenger Gretel broke her boom Tuesday in test racing. It was the third broken boom for the Aussie yacht since her arrival here in mid-July.

Skipper Jock Sturrock ordered the sloop towed back to the dock and the broken aluminum spar was replaced by a spare wooden boom.

After a half an hour at the dock, Gretel put to sea again to resume racing against her American trial horse Vim.

Winds were blowing between 15 and 20 knots in Narrangansett Bay and the Weather Bureau had ordered small craft warnings posted.

The America's Cup races begin Saturday. Gretel is challenging the American defender Weatherly.

Kansas City Officials Deny Bauer On Way Out

Owner Finley Brands Report As Nonsense

KANSAS CITY (AP) — General Manager Pat Friday of the Kansas City Athletics denied flatly Tuesday published reports that Manager Hank Bauer of the ninth-place American League club is on his way out and will be succeeded by pitching coach Eddie Lopat.

"I don't know where that rumor got started," Friday said. "There's nothing to it."

A's owner Charley Finley said in Chicago Monday night that the report is "nonsense."

"Bauer is managing," Finley said, "You can see for yourself. There's nothing to it."

Bauer was en route to Los Angeles with the club where the A's open a two-game series with the Angeles Wednesday night.

Friday said he thought Bauer had "done a good job" this season.

"It's been an injury-ridden year for us," Friday said. "I don't know what more a manager could have done under the circumstances."

Bauer's contract extends through the 1962 season. He succeeded Joe Gordon in June 1961. Gordon's contract, a 2-year pact, also terminates at the close of the 1962 season. Gordon, currently a batting instructor with the Los Angeles Angels, still receives his pay checks from the Athletics.

Perry Blanks Senators, 3-0

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Rookie third baseman Max Alvis, playing his first major league game, drove in the winning run Tuesday night to help the Cleveland Indians defeat Washington, 3-0, behind the six-hit pitching of Jim Perry.

Alvis, up from Salt Lake City, singled home Willie Tasby in the fourth inning to provide the only run Perry needed. Tasby had singled off Claude Osteen and moved to second on a wild pitch.

Perry allowed only one Senator to reach second as he posted his third shutout and evened his record at 11-11. Osteen's mark is now 8-12.

Woodie Held slammed a solo home run off Osteen in the seventh and the Indians scored their final run in the eighth against reliever Bennie Daniels when Tasby singled, went to third on a double by Tito Francona and came home on a wild pitch.

Baltimore Places Moore On Waivers

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Baltimore Colts placed injured halfback Lenny Moore on waivers Tuesday. However, they said they would recall the ace ball carrier if he is claimed.

The move would reduce the National Football League club's roster to 35 — provided Moore goes unclaimed. The league limit is 36.

Moore suffered a cracked left kneecap last Sunday at Pittsburgh during an exhibition game between the Colts and the Steelers.

The All-Pro halfback is expected to be sidelined for six to eight weeks.

Steelers Cut Roster To 35

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The Pittsburgh Steelers asked waivers on a veteran and two rookies Tuesday, cutting their roster to 35, one below the Nationals Football League limit.

Waivers were asked on quarterback Terry Nofsinger, a one-year veteran of the Steelers, and rookies Gary Ballman, a halfback from Michigan State, and tackle Pete Perrault of Boston U.

Coach Buddy Parker put his squad through a workout Tuesday for the club's season opener Sunday at Detroit.

Pitt And Miami To Tangle In College Football's Game Of Week

Panthers Will Rely On Passing Of Traficant

Mira Is Hurricanes' Best Bet; Game Set For Pitt Stadium

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Pitt Coach Johnny Michelosen admitted Tuesday "we don't know how good we are — yet." But he'll get a pretty fair idea Saturday when his Panthers meet Miami of Florida in college football's "Game of the Week" lid-lifter at the Stadium here.

The game will be on national television (CBS) starting at 1:30 p.m. EDT.

Last Seven In 1961

Michelosen, speaking at a mid-week briefing of sportswriters and sportscasters, admitted his squad "should be better" than the 1961 edition, which lost seven of 10 games.

"This club has a lot of enthusiasm," he said. "We've been very lucky as far as injuries are concerned in key positions. We have been more fortunate in this year's training period than we have been in a number of years."

The Panther boss singled out senior quarterback Jim Traficant of Youngstown, Ohio, as the key to Pitt's success - indicating that plans call for taking advantage of Traficant's passing ability.

"He's the best long passer I've had since I've been here (at Pitt) as head coach," Michelosen added.

On hand to represent the Hurricanes was publicist George Gallet, who relayed a not-too-surprising message from Miami Coach Andy Gustafson.

Calls Mira Best

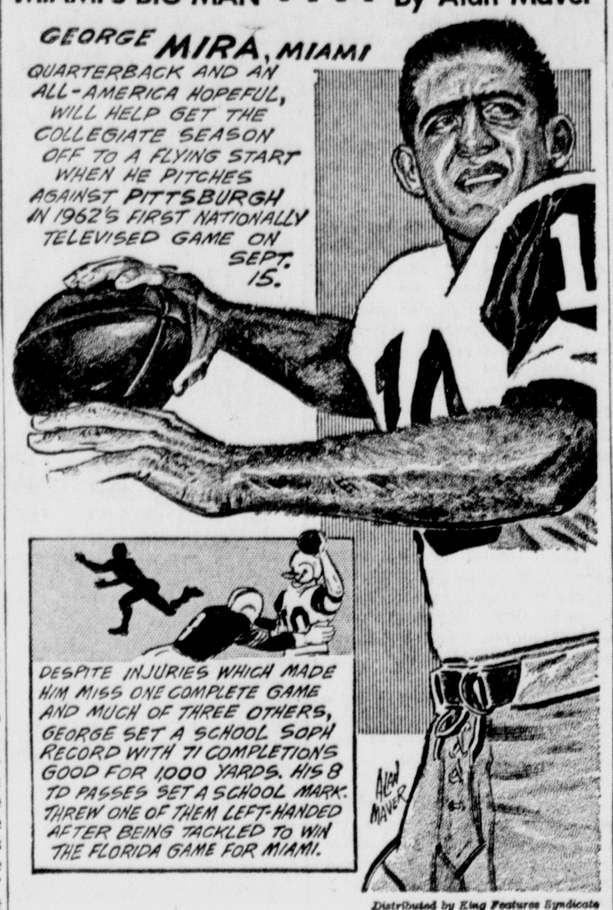

"Gus feels that our George Mira is the best quarterback he's ever coached," Gallet said.

Then, speaking for himself Gallet continued:

"I think Mira's the best we've ever had at Miami. He and Fred Bertani (a sophomore from Norwin High School near Irwin, Pa.) give us the best one-two quarterback lineup we've ever had."

To make the Hurricanes feel at home in Pitt Stadium, Gallet said 16 live palm trees — each about 20 feet high — were being shipped north and will be displayed in the end zones.

Kansas City Officials Deny Bauer On Way Out

Owner Finley Brands Report As Nonsense

KANSAS CITY (AP) — General Manager Pat Friday of the Kansas City Athletics denied flatly Tuesday published reports that Manager Hank Bauer of the ninth-place American League club is on his way out and will be succeeded by pitching coach Eddie Lopat.

"I don't know where that rumor got started," Friday said. "There's nothing to it."

A's owner Charley Finley said in Chicago Monday night that the report is "nonsense."

"Bauer is managing," Finley said, "You can see for yourself. There's nothing to it."

Bauer was en route to Los Angeles with the club where the A's open a two-game series with the Angeles Wednesday night.

Friday said he thought Bauer had "done a good job" this season.

"It's been an injury-ridden year for us," Friday said. "I don't know what more a manager could have done under the circumstances."

Bauer's contract extends through the 1962 season. He succeeded Joe Gordon in June 1961. Gordon's contract, a 2-year pact, also terminates at the close of the 1962 season. Gordon, currently a batting instructor with the Los Angeles Angels, still receives his pay checks from the Athletics.

Perry Blanks Senators, 3-0

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Rookie third baseman Max Alvis, playing his first major league game, drove in the winning run Tuesday night to help the Cleveland Indians defeat Washington, 3-0, behind the six-hit pitching of Jim Perry.

Alvis, up from Salt Lake City, singled home Willie Tasby in the fourth inning to provide the only run Perry needed. Tasby had singled off Claude Osteen and moved to second on a wild pitch.

Perry allowed only one Senator to reach second as he posted his third shutout and evened his record at 11-11. Osteen's mark is now 8-12.

Woodie Held slammed a solo home run off Osteen in the seventh and the Indians scored their final run in the eighth against reliever Bennie Daniels when Tasby singled, went to third on a double by Tito Francona and came home on a wild pitch.

Colts Ask Waivers On Steve Myhra

Kicked Celebrated Field Goal In 1958

BALTIMORE (AP) — Steve Myhra, who kicked one of the most celebrated field goals in National Football League history, was placed on waivers Tuesday by the Baltimore Colts.

The Colts also asked waivers on halfback Hezekiah Braxton, a rookie who was a sensation in the early pre-season exhibition games, reducing their roster to 36 players.

It was Myhra's 20-yard field goal with seven seconds remaining which sent the 1958 NFL title game into overtime. The Colts went on to defeat the New York Giants 23-17 in the league's only sudden-death battle.

A 28-year-old graduate of the University of North Dakota, Myhra has played five seasons with the Colts.

Myhra set team records with 21 field goals and 96 points last season. Three of his field goals won games in the last quarter—one with eight seconds remaining and another on the last play of the game.

In five seasons, Myhra booted 180 of 190 extra point attempts and 44 of 91 field goal tries for 312 points.

The 240-pounder was used as a guard or linebacker, mostly on specialized platoons, when he wasn't placekicking.

Gretel Breaks Boom During Test Race

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — The Australian America's Cup challenger Gretel broke her boom Tuesday in test racing. It was the third broken boom for the Aussie yacht since her arrival here in mid-July.

Skipper Jock Sturrock ordered the sloop towed back to the dock and the broken aluminum spar was replaced by a spare wooden boom.

Nobody was injured in the mishap.

After a half an hour at the dock, Gretel put to sea again to resume racing against her American trial horse Vim.

Winds were blowing between 15 and 20 knots in Narrangansett Bay and the Weather Bureau had ordered small craft warnings posted.

The America's Cup races begin Saturday. Gretel is challenging the American defender Weatherly.

Baltimore Places Moore On Waivers

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Baltimore Colts placed injured halfback Lenny Moore on waivers Tuesday. However, they said they would recall the ace ball carrier if he is claimed.

The move would reduce the National Football League club's roster to 35 — provided Moore goes unclaimed. The league limit is 36.

Moore suffered a cracked left kneecap last Sunday at Pittsburgh during an exhibition game between the Colts and the Steelers.

The All-Pro halfback is expected to be sidelined for six to eight weeks.

Steelers Cut Roster To 35

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The Pittsburgh Steelers asked waivers on a veteran and two rookies Tuesday, cutting their roster to 35, one below the Nationals Football League limit.

Waivers were asked on quarterback Terry Nofsinger, a one-year veteran of the Steelers, and rookies Gary Ballman, a halfback from Michigan State, and tackle Pete Perrault of Boston U.

Coach Buddy Parker put his squad through a workout Tuesday for the club's season opener Sunday at Detroit.

Electronics, Chemicals Gain In Irregular Market

NEW YORK (UPI)—Electronics and chemicals scored the best gains in Tuesday's scrambled and fairly active stock market.

Trading, which got off to a fairly slow start, picked up considerably by mid-afternoon to total 3,040,000 shares compared with 2,520,000 in the previous session.

Dow-Jones industrial average inched up 1.96 for its fourth consecutive day in the plus column. Standard & Poor's 500 stock index rose 0.14.

The D-J rails were off 0.91, reflecting chiefly a dip of 1⅞ in Rock Island following a dividend cut from 40 to 25 cents, and a loss of 2 in Kansas City Southern. Utilities were off 0.02.

A total of 1,253 issues changed hands Tuesday of which 554 advanced and 435 declined. Of these, 19 hit new 1962 lows and 3 new highs.

Among the best electronics performers were Fairchild Camera, Motorola, Texas Instruments and Litton, the last on a prediction for higher earnings. IBM was up most of the session but succumbed to profit-taking just before the close to finish off 2¼.

In the chemicals, Du Pont rose 1¾ ,Allied ½, Union Carbide 1⅝ and Thiokol 1½, the last on news it is developing rocket fuel it calls 15 per cent more powerful than existing fuels.

Electronics, Chemicals Gain In Irregular Market

NEW YORK (UPI)—Electronics and chemicals scored the best gains in Tuesday's scrambled and fairly active stock market.

Trading, which got off to a fairly slow start, picked up considerably by mid-afternoon to total 3,040,000 shares compared with 2,520,000 in the previous session.

Dow-Jones industrial average inched up 1.96 for its fourth consecutive day in the plus column. Standard & Poor's 500 stock index rose 0.14.

The D-J rails were off 0.91, reflecting chiefly a dip of 1⅞ in Rock Island following a dividend cut from 40 to 25 cents, and a loss of 2 in Kansas City Southern. Utilities were off 0.02.

A total of 1,253 issues changed hands Tuesday of which 554 advanced and 435 declined. Of these, 19 hit new 1962 lows and 3 new highs.

Among the best electronics performers were Fairchild Camera, Motorola, Texas Instruments and Litton, the last on a prediction for higher earnings. IBM was up most of the session but succumbed to profit-taking just before the close to finish off 2¼.

In the chemicals, Du Pont rose 1¾ ,Allied ½, Union Carbide 1⅝ and Thiokol 1½, the last on news it is developing rocket fuel it calls 15 per cent more powerful than existing fuels.

Card of Thanks

We wish to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to all our friends, relatives, and neighbors for all their helpfulness and kindness following the death of our son and brother, William Earl (Billy) Fisher.

We especially want to thank the Rev. Howard Pentz, Mr. Leighton of the Leighton Funeral Home, and those who gave flowers, and those who contributed the use of cars for the funeral services.

MR. & MRS. ROY E. FISHER AND FAMILY

I sincerely want to thank my friends in the Keyser and Oakland areas for their kindness and love extended to me during the loss and death of my dear husband, John W. King, who passed to his reward on August 18. It is impossible to express with words the deep feeling of love in my heart for everything, but we can rest assured that it is God's love that makes us love one another when in deep sorrow and trouble. "May God bless and give everyone a greater zeal to serve him" is my prayer.

MRS. JOHN W. KING

We wish to express our sincere thanks to all our friends, neighbors and relatives who were so kind to us during our recent bereavement, the death of our beloved companion and friend, Miss Grace H. Beveridge. We especially thank Rev. McCloud, those who sent flowers and cards and all others who in any manner rendered assistance we are indeed grateful.

MISS MADALYN SCHRAMM
MRS. HAZEL POLAND

Card of Thanks

We wish to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to all our friends, relatives, and neighbors for all their helpfulness and kindness following the death of our son and brother, William Earl (Billy) Fisher.

We especially want to thank the Rev. Howard Pentz, Mr. Leighton of the Leighton Funeral Home, and those who gave flowers, and those who contributed the use of cars for the funeral services.

MR. & MRS. ROY E. FISHER AND FAMILY

I sincerely want to thank my friends in the Keyser and Oakland areas for their kindness and love extended to me during the loss and death of my dear husband, John W. King, who passed to his reward on August 18. It is impossible to express with words the deep feeling of love in my heart for everything, but we can rest assured that it is God's love that makes us love one another when in deep sorrow and trouble. "May God bless" and give everyone a greater zeal to serve him" is my prayer.

MRS. JOHN W. KING

We wish to express our sincere thanks to all our friends, neighbors and relatives who were so kind to us during our recent bereavement, the death of our beloved companion and friend, Miss Grace H. Beveridge. We especially thank Rev. McCloud, those who sent flowers and cards and all others who in any manner rendered assistance we are indeed grateful.

MISS MADALYN SCHRAMM
MRS. HAZEL POLAND

Three Judges Acquit Ball Of Assault

Non Compos Mentis Count Decided

A full bench in Allegany County Circuit Court acquitted Robert L. Ball, 22, of Frostburg, on a final count of carnal knowledge of a person who was non compos mentis, which is a legal term for not being of sound mind.

Ball was indicted by a recalled grand jury on Monday, August 13, on a five-count indictment resulting from an alleged assault upon an 89-year-old neighbor woman early August 5.

After State's Attorney James S. Getty rested his case shortly after 2 p.m. yesterday, the three judges hearing the case granted a defense motion for acquittal on four of the five counts.

Four Counts Dropped

Dropped after the state rested were the counts charging rape, assault with intent to rape, carnal knowledge of an insane person, and assault and battery.

Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris and Associate Judges W. Earle Cobey, both of Cumberland, and Stuart F. Hamill Jr. of Oakland, composed the full bench which heart the case.

Five defense witnesses were called before the judges heard closing argument. They retired to chambers about 3:30 p.m. and returned about 20 minutes later with their verdict.

As he began announcing the verdict in the case, Judge Harris explained that the final count being considered was a statutory charge. This statute makes it a felony to have carnal knowledge of anyone who is an imbecile, non compos mentis or insane.

Judge Harris went on to say that the defendant's admission, medical testimony and that from other witnesses showed that Ball had had relations with the 89-year-old woman.

The chief judge then commented that the testimony of Dr. Richard W. Trevaskis Jr., local psychiatrist, made it unquestionably true that the woman was non compos mentis.

Doubt Existed

Then Judge Harris touched on another provision of the statute which resulted in his acquittal. The state must prove beyond a reasonable doubt that Ball had sufficient knowledge of the old woman's mental incapacity to know that she was non compos mentis and could not give her consent of carnal knowledge. He concluded that this was not proved.

Although he announced Ball's acquittal, Judge Harris described the act as the most revolting and sordid act to come before the court in many years. He admonished Ball to "mend his ways" in the future.

State's Attorney James S. Getty and his deputy, Donald W. Mason, called 16 witnesses to the stand. The last was County investigator Edwin R. Lilya who died just a few minutes after leaving the stand at 2 p.m. He had been on the stand for a short time reading the statement which Ball had given him.

Thomas N. Berry and John C. Sullivan, the defense attorneys, then called Ball to the stand for the limited purpose of determining whether he had received a constitutional warning before making his statement.

Signed Statement

Ball said he could not recall having been given such a constitutional warning, although it was in the written copy of the statement which he signed. He said he signed the statement because what it contained was the truth.

The defendant's mother, Mrs. Betty Green of Eckhart, and his sister, Valentina Jane Ball, a junior at Morgan State College, also were called by the defense attorneys.

Two Frostburg women who had been called first by the state were recalled as defense witnesses. They were Mrs. Lucius Harper, who had taken care of the prosecuting witness, and Miss Audry Spriggs. Mrs. Harper said the old woman used "very vulgar language" and the other witness said she often talked of sex.

When Judge Harris announced the verdict the defendant's mother broke out in tears of joy but the defendant showed no outward emotion.

Local Man's Kin Killed In Ohio Mishap

Harold T. Erb Dies At Work

A local man's brother-in-law was fatally injured late Monday night while he was at work operating a shovel at a steel company in Massillon, Ohio.

Dead is 59-year-old Harold T. Erb, of Cleveland, formerly of Davis, W. Va., a brother-in-law of Millard Buskirk, who lives at 845 Gephart Drive.

Mr. Buskirk said last night Mr. Erb was a shovel operator and was reclaiming ore at a steel company operation in Massillon when he was struck on the head by a weight or boom. He apparently was killed instantly, said Mr. Buskirk.

RC Gray Ladies Course Planned At Westernport

A Gray Ladies course, open to the women of this area, will be conducted on Tuesday, September 18 at the Episcopal Church parish house in Westernport by the Allegany County Chapter of the Red Cross.

Mrs. Sara G. Lindsay, executive secretary of the chapter, said this is the first time the course has been offered in Westernport.

An orientation on Red Cross services will be held from 10 a.m. until noon in charge of Mrs. Robert Gerson, chairman of volunteers of the county chapter.

The instroduction to Gray Ladies Service will be discussed from 1 a.m. until 3 p.m. by Mrs. Edward Naughton chairman of the Gray Ladies, and by Mrs. Lindsay, who said anyone who previously had the orientation phase need not attend that portion of the course.

Those who plan to take the course are asked to bring a lunch. Coffee will be provided by the Red Cross chapter.

Mrs. Lindsay stressed that the Gray Ladies work is volunteer on the part of those who participate. Those interested in taking the course are asked to contact Mrs. Annabelle Wilkes, Westernport recruiter, whose telephone number is FL 9-9211. Other information may be learned by calling the chapter office, PA 2-1760.

The course on Tuesday will be followed by a visit to Potomac Valley Hospital in Keyser. In order to complete the course, the participants must serve 10 hours on the job at the hospital of their choice.

Capping ceremonies and the presentation of pins will be done at the completion of the "on-the-job" training, said Mrs. Lindsay.

The local chapter currently has 35 active Gray Ladies who do work in Memorial Hospital, Sacred Heart Hospital and the County Infirmary.

Mrs. Lindsay said the service began in 1918 when a group of volunteers began serving patients in Walter Reed Hospital, Washington, D.C.

They first worked as hostesses and in recreation activities and later worked in hospitals by giving patients personal services.

3 County Bands To Perform At College Park

Bands from three Allegany County high schools are scheduled to perform during halftime ceremonies at the University of Maryland-Southern Methodist University football game September 22 at College Park.

They are Bruce High School of Westernport, directed by William Simpson; Beall High of Frostburg, directed by Frank Munson, and Mt. Savage High, directed by Thomas Lewis.

Band Day is sponsored once each year for all the high school bands of the state. The 38 bands participating this year will be given box lunches before their massed performance at halftime.

Mason Backs County Major Highway Plan

County Commissioner John T. Mason yesterday moved that a resolution be adopted approving the major highway plan as a part of a comprehensive master plan for Allegany County.

His motion died for want of a second when both Commissioners John J. Rowan and Louis V. Shinnamon said they would like to study it further.

The County Planning and Zoning Commission last Thursday night adopted a resolution for the major highway plan. Before taking final action, the planning group decided on one change. The planning group decided that the proposed connection between Cash Valley Road and U. S. Route 40 should be north of Weires Avenue instead of over that essentially residential street.

A public hearing on the major highway plan was held by the County Planning and Zoning Commission on August 23. At that time a number of complaints from citizens were aired.

In general, residents requested that residential streets remain as they are and persons owning business property asked that no traffic be diverted away from them.

Mr. Mason said that preliminary drafts of the major highway plan have been available for the county commissioners for at least three months and he believes a decision on the plan should be made now.

Registrars Sign Only Four Voters

Substitute registrars for the Allegany County Board of Election Supervisors traveled to Rawlings and Flintstone yesterday but could add only four prospective new voters for their six hours of work.

At Rawlings, Charles Llewellyn and Francis Thompson signed up two Republicans and one Democrat. At Flintstone only one Democrat registered.

Today the two substitute registrars are expecting greater activity. They will sit at the Celanese cafeteria from 10:30 a.m. until 1:30 p.m. and at the Celanese employment office from 2:30 until 5:30 p.m.

Fire Damages SRC Garage

City firemen had two calls yesterday including one in which a garage to the rear of 312 Maryland Avenue was damaged extensively.

East Side firemen, who received a call at 3:32 p.m., said a galvanized-type garage to the rear of the Maryland Avenue address was burned in a fire of undetermined origin.

The inside of the building as well as the roof were burned, according to firemen, who said the property is owned by the Maryland State Roads Commission.

In the other call, West Side firemen reported to 535 Washington Street about 10:36 p.m. yesterday when gasoline spilled onto the street from a truck. They hosed the area.

Ali Ghan Shrine Units Will Parade Five Donkeys

Five live donkeys flown to Western Maryland from New Mexico will be a colorful addition to the uniformed units of Ali Ghan Temple, A.A.O.N.M.S., which will parade Saturday in Atlantic City, N. J. in one of the nighlights of the two-day Mid Atlantic Shrine Association meeting.

Illustrious Potentate J. Wallace Close said the donkeys were obtained by C. William Hetzer of Williamsport, assistant rabban of Ali Ghan Temple, as the beginning portion of a new Shrine unit in Washington County. Ultimately, Shrine nobles from Washington County hope to organize an oriental band.

Droze Zembower of Cumberland, who is serving as chairman for the Atlantic City pilgrimage, said that more than 250 Shriners from Allegany and Washington counties are expected to attend the two-day convention.

Although most of the Shriners are planning to travel in their own automobiles, one chartered bus will take a large contingent and the Shrine band will have its bus along.

Some 10,000 Shriners representing 19 temples in the seven-state area of New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware, West Virginia, Virginia and Maryland are expected to converge on Atlantic City starting Thursday. Ali Ghan Shriners have reserved 134 rooms in the Colton Manor Hotel at Atlantic City.

Ali Ghan units which will appear in Saturday's parade include the band, director's staff, motor patrol, ritual team, provost guard, the patrol, drum corps, flag units and mounted patrol.

Labor Support For Governor Puzzles Small

GOP Candidate Says He's Unions' Friend

By The Associated Press

Republican gubernatorial candidate Frank Small Jr. expressed surprise Tuesday at labor's endorsement of his opponent, Gov. Tawes. A spokesman for Tawes called Small a foe of programs designed to promote the public welfare.

Thus the November election campaign picked up momentum on the gubernatorial level.

Small cited the recent endorsement of Tawes by the AFL-CIO in Maryland.

Small said Woodrow Strong, president of the statewide labor organization, had referred to Gov. Tawes' record last year as "one disappointment after another."

Small, former congressman, said Strong had accused the governor of having broken promises which he made to labor in 1958, when he was elected to his first term.

"I have no quarrel with labor leaders," said Small, "but I am puzzled by Strong's statement that he could not support me because I have no record on labor. I honestly believe that I am a much better friend of labor than Tawes is."

Small drew an attack from Herbert R. O'Conor Jr., chairman of the statewide Democratic Campaign Committee.

"Preliminary research indicates that the Republican candidate for governor has been a consistent foe of most programs designed to promote the welfare of the citizens of Maryland," O'Conor said in a statement.

O'Conor said the campaign committee plans to release soon a "White Paper" setting forth "the Republican gubernatorial candidate's lack of qualifications."

O'Conor again criticized Small's attack on the Tawes Administration's highway program.

Court Rules All Petition Names Must Be Valid

Lower Court's Order Reversed

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — The Court of Appeals said Tuesday a false name on a referendum petition will invalidate the entire petition unless circulators prove other names on the list to be bona fide.

The high court reversed a ruling by Baltimore County Circuit Judge John E. Raine Jr. that only the invalid names must be thrown out.

The case involved a petition referendum in Baltimore County on a bill to expand the program for transporting parochial school students on public school buses. It also affects drives for referenda on three other legislative acts.

"Upon proof of the falsity of the affidavit (of the petition circulator), the prima facie presumption of the validity of the petition . . . must fail, along with all the signatures thereon," the court said.

Must Prone Validity

It said remaining signatures on the petition can be salvaged only if proponents of the referendum "affirmatively show the remaining signatures . . . are genuine and bona fide and that the signers are registered voters as required by law."

The decision, filed late Tuesday, left in doubt whether four legislative acts held off the ballot on advice of the attorney general will go before voters in the Nov. 6 election.

The attorney general had said that if a signature was proven false, it made the underlying affidavit invalid, and therefore rendered worthless the entire petition sheet and all the signatures on it.

The four 1961 legislative acts held off the ballot on these grounds were a savings and loan regulatory bill, a Baltimore Municipal Court expansion bill, a moratorium on leasing of oyster grounds in Dorchester County, and the Baltimore County bill to expand the program by which parochial school students are allowed to ride public school buses.

The circulator of such a petition states in an affidavit that he personally knows the signers to be residents and registered voters in the precinct listed next to their names.

Burden On Circulators

"We do not go so far as to hold . . . that proof of the falsity of the affidavit as to some signers renders invalid, in the sense of being a nullity, the entire paper or part of the petition it purports to verify," the high court said.

"We hold, however, that if the circulator of a referendum petition in this state makes affidavit that, of his own personal knowledge, the signers of the petition which he has circulated are registered voters of the state, and the county, as set opposite their names, when, in fact, he has no such personal knowledge, the falsity of his affidavit gives rise, at least to a presumption of fraud."

The court said the entire petition then loses its prima facie presumption of validity, and the burden of proof is on petition circulators to show that the other signatures are valid.

The unanimous opinion for the seven-judge court was written by Judge James Macgill of Howard County Circuit Court, who sat for appellate Judge C. Ferdinand Sybert during the arguments. Sybert wss attorney general at the time the petitioned acts were passed.

School Board Gets Appraisal

A second appraisal of the property desired by the Allegany County Board of Education for a new South Cumberland junior high school was received by the board at its monthly meeting yesterday.

John F. Workmeister, local realtor, came up with an appraisal of $83,750 for the entire 27.5 acres. He valued 15 of the acres at a total of $52,500 and 12.5 others at $31,250.

Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster was authorized to pursue negotiations with the land owners. Mr. Workmeister's appraisal compares with the first one obtained by the school board.

Formal action was taken by the Board of Education approving the contracts of 66 new teachers, some of whom had served previously and are returning after leaves of absence. Thirty-six of them are in the high schools and 30 in elementary schools.

Mr. Webster submitted to the board detailed enrollment figures on the new school year. At the close of school last Friday there were 16,560 pupils compared with 16,147 at the same time last September.

The superintendent was asked to check into complaints received by several school board members concerning a shortage of textbooks.

It was decided that the board's next meeting on October 16 will be held in an elementary school, probably Parkside or Gephart, where new additions have been completed.

To Address Club

Paul C. Herndon, conservation education specialist for the National Resources Institute of the University of Maryland, will be the guest speaker at the weekly meeting of the Cumberland Kiwanis Club tomorrow at 12:15 p.m. at Central YMCA.

Edwin R. Lilya Dies Suddenly At Court House

Investigator Stricken At Trial

Edwin R. Lilya, 57, county investigator for Allegany County, was fatally stricken with a heart attack yesterday afternoon shortly after he testified in an assault case in Allegany County Circuit Court.

Mr. Lilya was the last witness for the state in the assault case and was in the office of James F. Lewis, probation officer, in the Court House when he was stricken.

Tfc. Donald R. Wade of the State Police, who was in the Court House at the time, rushed outside to his cruiser for his mouth-to-mouth resuscitator and attempted to revive Mr. Lilya.

Kyhos Recounts Hafer's Attack For U.S. Jury

Rollins Says Client Threatened Agent

BALTIMORE (AP) — Internal Revenue agent Milton Kyhos testified Tuesday that a Cumberland funeral director burst into his office, threw a punch at him and forced him to take cover.

The tax agent testified at the federal court trial of John J. Hafer, 56-year-old funeral director. He is accused of assaulting Kyhos in his office in the Cumberland Post Office June 1.

"He (Hafer) came in unannounced and threw a haymaker at me which I ducked," Kyhos told the court. "I knew I had to protect myself against this man, who was bent on murder."

Earlier, John Rollins, an accountant for Hafer, testified his client refused to turn over depreciation reports requested by Kyhos.

Kyhos said he had been investigating Hafer's business interests.

Rollins testified that his client accompanied his refusal to meet Kyhos' request for records with curses and threats to harm the tax agent.

Miss Janice Lewis of Cumberland, clerk-typist in an office near Kyhos' in the Post Office building, testified she heard cries for help coming from the tax agent's office.

Postal inspector Richard M. Johnson told the court he, too, heard noise and heard the voice of Kyhos, "who appeared to be very much on the defensive. The other voice was aggressive," Johnson added.

Judge Harrison L. Winter is hearing the case in U.S. District Court with a jury of eight men and four women.

The defendant faces a maximum sentence of three years in prison and a $5,000 fine if convicted.

39-Year-Old Will Among Seven Probated

A will drawn 39 years ago was one of seven probated in a single session of Allegany County Orphans Court.

It was the last testament of Richard Edward Valentine, who was a 74-year-old resident of RFD 3, Bedford Road, when he died July 21. His widow, Mrs. Hallie Mae Valentine, who qualified as executrix under a $500 bond, was the sole beneficiary under the will dated January 6, 1923.

Another will, that of Raymond E. Boore, who was a 62-year-old Mt. Savage resident upon his death August 30, left $1,000 to St. George's Episcopal Church, Mt. Savage, in memory of his wife, Mrs. Gertha V. Boore, who predeceased him.

Mr. Boore also provided cash bequests to three nieces, left his residence in Mt. Savage to his brother, Norman, and bequeathed all the rest of his property to five brothers and a sister. One brother, Norman Boore of Mt. Savage, qualified as executor under a $5,000 bond. This will was dated August 26, 1960.

Another probated will was that of Marshall L. Hartsock, who was a 65-year-old resident of 127 Columbia Street at the time of his death August 20. A friend, Calvin S. Keiter, 601 Bedford Street, qualified as executor under a $1,000 bond. His entire estate was left to Augusta Anna Gregg under terms of the will dated June 28, 1962.

The will of Martin Patrick Niland, who was 86 at the time of his death September 2 in the County Infirmary, also was probated. It left his entire estate to James E. Niland, 154 North Mechanic Street, a second cousin who qualified as executor under a $1,000 bond. This will was dated December 8, 1960.

Another will probated was the last testament of Archibald R. Shafer, who was a 77-year-old Little Orleans resident when he died August 20. His attorney, Earl E. Manges, qualified as executor under a $3,000 bond. Under terms of his will of April 17, 1951, his five daughters and three sons were to share his estate.

The will of Mrs. Rosa Mae Snyder, also known as Rosa Mae Schneider, also was probated. She was an 84-year-old resident of Eckhart when she died August 23. Her son, W. Leslie Snyder, 62B Depot Street, Frostburg, qualified as executor under a $500 bond. She left her estate equally to six children under her will dated Febrary 18, 1957.

Also probated was the will of Mrs. Mika Eror, who lived at Fairgo at the time of her death July 31. Her daughter, Miss Donna Ann Eror, RFD 5, qualified as executrix under a $200 bond. Two daughters, Mary Mildred and Donna Eror, will share her estate. The will was dated June 3, 1960.

Three Judges Acquit Ball Of Assault

Non Compos Mentis Count Decided

A full bench in Allegany County Circuit Court acquitted Robert L. Ball, 22, of Frostburg, on a final count of carnal knowledge of a person who was non compos mentis, which is a legal term for not being of sound mind.

Ball was indicted by a recalled grand jury on Monday, August 13, on a five-count indictment resulting from an alleged assault upon an 89-year-old neighbor woman early August 5.

After State's Attorney James S. Getty rested his case shortly after 2 p.m. yesterday, the three judges hearing the case granted a defense motion for acquittal on four of the five counts.

Four Counts Dropped

Dropped after the state rested were the counts charging rape, assault with intent to rape, carnal knowledge of an insane person, and assault and battery.

Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris and Associate Judges W. Earle Cobey, both of Cumberland, and Stuart F. Hamill Jr. of Oakland, composed the full bench which heart the case.

Five defense witnesses were called before the judges heard closing argument. They retired to chambers about 3:30 p.m. and returned about 20 minutes later with their verdict.

As he began announcing the verdict in the case, Judge Harris explained that the final count being considered was a statutory charge. This statute makes it a felony to have carnal knowledge of anyone who is an imbecile, non compos mentis or insane.

Judge Harris went on to say that the defendant's admission, medical testimony and that from other witnesses showed that Ball had had relations with the 89-year-old woman.

The chief judge then commented that the testimony of Dr. Richard W. Trevaskis Jr., local psychiatrist, made it unquestionably true that the woman was non compos mentis.

Doubt Existed

Then Judge Harris touched on another provision of the statute which resulted in his acquittal. The state must prove beyond a reasonable doubt that Ball had sufficient knowledge of the old woman's mental incapacity to know that she was non compos mentis and could not give her consent of carnal knowledge. He concluded that this was not proved.

Although he announced Ball's acquittal, Judge Harris described the act as the most revolting and sordid act to come before the court in many years. He admonished Ball to "mend his ways" in the future.

State's Attorney James S. Getty and his deputy, Donald W. Mason, called 16 witnesses to the stand. The last was County investigator Edwin R. Lilya who died just a few minutes after leaving the stand at 2 p.m. He had been on the stand for a short time reading the statement which Ball had given him.

Thomas N. Berry and John C. Sullivan, the defense attorneys, then called Ball to the stand for the limited purpose of determining whether he had received a constitutional warning before making his statement.

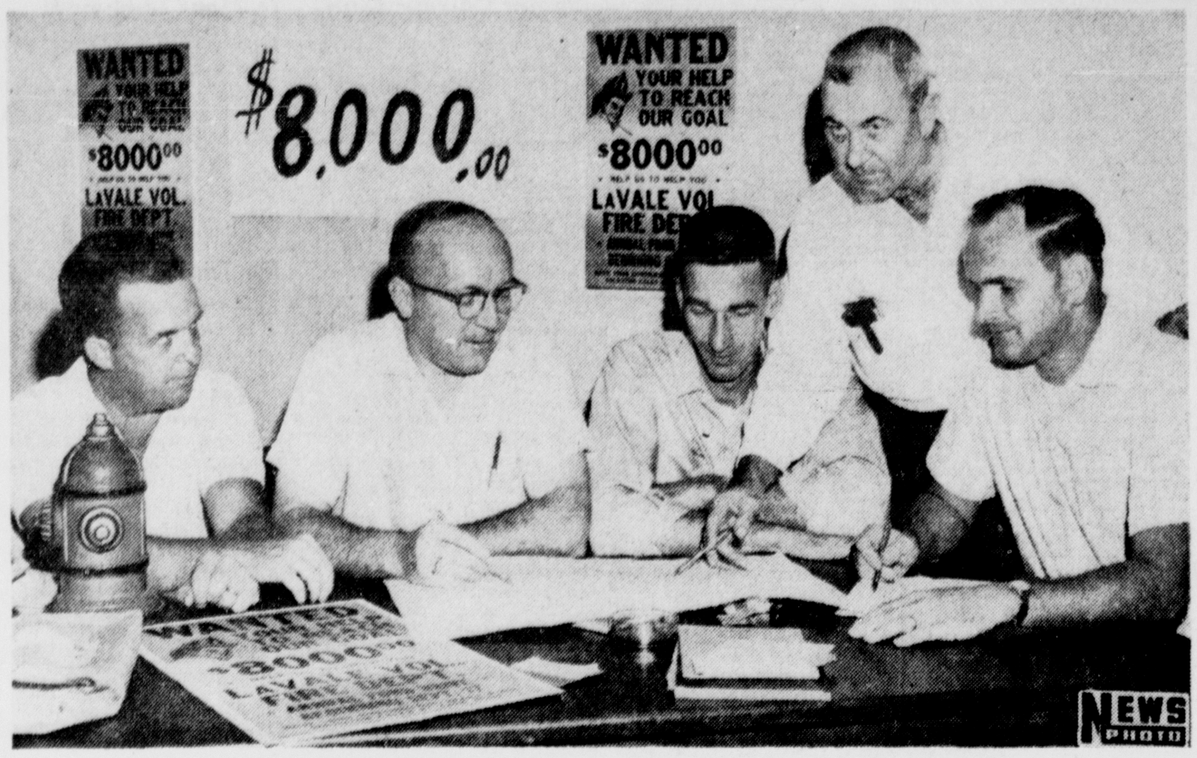

Signed Statement

Ball said he could not recall having been given such a constitutional warning, although it was in the written copy of the statement which he signed. He said he signed the statement because what it contained was the truth.

The defendant's mother, Mrs. Betty Green of Eckhart, and his sister, Valentina Jane Ball, a junior at Morgan State College, also were called by the defense attorneys.

Two Frostburg women who had been called first by the state were recalled as defense witnesses. They were Mrs. Lucius Harper, who had taken care of the prosecuting witness, and Miss Audry Spriggs. Mrs. Harper said the old woman used "very vulgar language" and the other witness said she often talked of sex.

When Judge Harris announced the verdict the defendant's mother broke out in tears of joy but the defendant showed no outward emotion.

The instroduction to Gray Ladies Service will be discussed from 1 a.m. until 3 p.m. by Mrs. Edward Naughton chairman of the Gray Ladies, and by Mrs. Lindsay, who said anyone who previously had the orientation phase need not attend that portion of the course.

Mason Backs County Major Highway Plan

County Commissioner John T. Mason yesterday moved that a resolution be adopted approving the major highway plan as a part of a comprehensive master plan for Allegany County.

His motion died for want of a second when both Commissioners John J. Rowan and Louis V. Shinnamon said they would like to study it further.

The County Planning and Zoning Commission last Thursday night adopted a resolution for the major highway plan. Before taking final action, the planning group decided on one change. The planning group decided that the proposed connection between Cash Valley Road and U. S. Route 40 should be north of Weires Avenue instead of over that essentially residential street.

A public hearing on the major highway plan was held by the County Planning and Zoning Commission on August 23. At that time a number of complaints from citizens were aired.

In general, residents requested that residential streets remain as they are and persons owning business property asked that no traffic be diverted away from them.

Mr. Mason said that preliminary drafts of the major highway plan have been available for the county commissioners for at least three months and he believes a decision on the plan should be made now.

Substitute registrars for the Allegany County Board of Election Supervisors traveled to Rawlings and Flintstone yesterday but could add only four prospective new voters for their six hours of work.

Today the two substitute registrars are expecting greater activity. They will sit at the Celanese cafeteria from 10:30 a.m. until 1:30 p.m. and at the Celanese employment office from 2:30 until 5:30 p.m.

Fire Damages SRC Garage

City firemen had two calls yesterday including one in which a garage to the rear of 312 Maryland Avenue was damaged extensively.

East Side firemen, who received a call at 3:32 p.m., said a galvanized-type garage to the rear of the Maryland Avenue address was burned in a fire of undetermined origin.

The inside of the building as well as the roof were burned, according to firemen, who said the property is owned by the Maryland State Roads Commission.

In the other call, West Side firemen reported to 535 Washington Street about 10:36 p.m. yesterday when gasoline spilled onto the street from a truck. They hosed the area.

Labor Support For Governor Puzzles Small

GOP Candidate Says He's Unions' Friend

By The Associated Press

Republican gubernatorial candidate Frank Small Jr. expressed surprise Tuesday at labor's endorsement of his opponent, Gov. Tawes. A spokesman for Tawes called Small a foe of programs designed to promote the public welfare.

Thus the November election campaign picked up momentum on the gubernatorial level.

Small cited the recent endorsement of Tawes by the AFL-CIO in Maryland.

Small said Woodrow Strong, president of the statewide labor organization, had referred to Gov. Tawes' record last year as "one disappointment after another."

Small, former congressman, said Strong had accused the governor of having broken promises which he made to labor in 1958, when he was elected to his first term.

"I have no quarrel with labor leaders," said Small, "but I am puzzled by Strong's statement that he could not support me because I have no record on labor. I honestly believe that I am a much better friend of labor than Tawes is."

Small drew an attack from Herbert R. O'Conor Jr., chairman of the statewide Democratic Campaign Committee.

"Preliminary research indicates that the Republican candidate for governor has been a consistent foe of most programs designed to promote the welfare of the citizens of Maryland," O'Conor said in a statement.

O'Conor said the campaign committee plans to release soon a "White Paper" setting forth "the Republican gubernatorial candidate's lack of qualifications."

O'Conor again criticized Small's attack on the Tawes Administration's highway program.

Ali Ghan Shrine Units Will Parade Five Donkeys

Five live donkeys flown to Western Maryland from New Mexico will be a colorful addition to the uniformed units of Ali Ghan Temple, A. A. O. N. M. S., which will parade Saturday in Atlantic City, N. J. in one of the nighlights of the two-day Mid Atlantic Shrine Association meeting.

Illustrious Potentate J. Wallace Close said the donkeys were obtained by C. William Hetzer of Williamsport, assistant rabban of Ali Ghan Temple, as the beginning portion of a new Shrine unit in Washington County. Ultimately, Shrine nobles from Washington County hope to organize an oriental band.

Droze Zembower of Cumberland, who is serving as chairman for the Atlantic City pilgrimage, said that more than 250 Shriners from Allegany and Washington counties are expected to attend the two-day convention.

Although most of the Shriners are planning to travel in their own automobiles, one chartered bus will take a large contingent and the Shrine band will have its bus along.

Some 10,000 Shriners representing 19 temples in the seven-state area of New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware, West Virginia, Virginia and Maryland are expected to converge on Atlantic City starting Thursday. Ali Ghan Shriners have reserved 134 rooms in the Colton Manor Hotel at Atlantic City.

Ali Ghan units which will appear in Saturday's parade include the band, director's staff, motor patrol, ritual team, provost guard, the patrol, drum corps, flag units and mounted patrol.

Court Rules All Petition Names Must Be Valid

Lower Court's Order Reversed

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — The Court of Appeals said Tuesday a false name on a referendum petition will invalidate the entire petition unless circulators prove other names on the list to be bona fide.

The high court reversed a ruling by Baltimore County Circuit Judge John E. Raine Jr. that only the invalid names must be thrown out.

The case involved a petition referendum in Baltimore County on a bill to expand the program for transporting parochial school students on public school buses. It also affects drives for referenda on three other legislative acts.

"Upon proof of the falsity of the affidavit (of the petition circulator), the prima facie presumption of the validity of the petition . . . must fail, along with all the signatures thereon," the court said.

Must Prone Validity

It said remaining signatures on the petition can be salvaged only if proponents of the referendum "affirmatively show the remaining signatures . . . are genuine and bona fide and that the signers are registered voters as required by law."

The decision, filed late Tuesday, left in doubt whether four legislative acts held off the ballot on advice of the attorney general will go before voters in the Nov. 6 election.

The attorney general had said that if a signature was proven false, it made the underlying affidavit invalid, and therefore rendered worthless the entire petition sheet and all the signatures on it.

The four 1961 legislative acts held off the ballot on these grounds were a savings and loan regulatory bill, a Baltimore Municipal Court expansion bill, a moratorium on leasing of oyster grounds in Dorchester County, and the Baltimore County bill to expand the program by which parochial school students are allowed to ride public school buses.

The circulator of such a petition states in an affidavit that he personally knows the signers to be residents and registered voters in the precinct listed next to their names.

Burden On Circulators

"We do not go so far as to hold . . . that proof of the falsity of the affidavit as to some signers renders invalid, in the sense of being a nullity, the entire paper or part of the petition it purports to verify," the high court said.

"We hold, however, that if the circulator of a referendum petition in this state makes affidavit that, of his own personal knowledge, the signers of the petition which he has circulated are registered voters of the state, and the county, as set opposite their names, when, in fact, he has no such personal knowledge, the falsity of his affidavit gives rise, at least to a presumption of fraud."

The court said the entire petition then loses its prima facie presumption of validity, and the burden of proof is on petition circulators to show that the other signatures are valid.

The unanimous opinion for the seven-judge court was written by Judge James Macgill of Howard County Circuit Court, who sat for appellate Judge C. Ferdinand Sybert during the arguments. Sybert wss attorney general at the time the petitioned acts were passed.

School Board Gets Appraisal

A second appraisal of the property desired by the Allegany County Board of Education for a new South Cumberland junior high school was received by the board at its monthly meeting yesterday.

John F. Workmeister, local realtor, came up with an appraisal of $83,750 for the entire 27.5 acres. He valued 15 of the acres at a total of $52,500 and 12.5 others at $31,250.

Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster was authorized to pursue negotiations with the land owners. Mr. Workmeister's appraisal compares with the first one obtained by the school board.

Formal action was taken by the Board of Education approving the contracts of 66 new teachers, some of whom had served previously and are returning after leaves of absence. Thirty-six of them are in the high schools and 30 in elementary schools.

Mr. Webster submitted to the board detailed enrollment figures on the new school year. At the close of school last Friday there were 16,560 pupils compared with 16,147 at the same time last September.

The superintendent was asked to check into complaints received by several school board members concerning a shortage of textbooks.

It was decided that the board's next meeting on October 16 will be held in an elementary school, probably Parkside or Gephart, where new additions have been completed.

Kyhos Recounts Hafer's Attack For U.S. Jury

Rollins Says Client Threatened Agent

BALTIMORE (AP) — Internal Revenue agent Milton Kyhos testifield Tuesday that a Cumberland funeral director burst into his office, threw a punch at him and forced him to take cover.

The tax agent testified at the federal court trial of John J. Hafer, 56-year-old funeral director. He is accused of assaulting Kyhos in his office in the Cumberland Post Office June 1.

"He (Hafer) came in unannounced and threw a haymaker at me which I ducked," Kyhos told the court. "I knew I had to protect myself against this man, who was bent on murder."

Earlier, John Rollins, an accountant for Hafer, testified his client refused to turn over depreciation reports requested by Kyhos.

Kyhos said he had been investigating Hafer's business interests.

Rollins testified that his client accompanied his refusal to meet Kyhos' request for records with curses and threats to harm the tax agent.

Miss Janice Lewis of Cumberland, clerk-typist in an office near Kyhos' in the Post Office building, testified she heard cries for help coming from the tax agent's office.

Postal inspector Richard M. Johnson told the court he, too, heard noise and heard the voice of Kyhos, "who appeared to be very much on the defensive. The other voice was aggressive," Johnson added.

Judge Harrison L. Winter is hearing the case in U.S. District Court with a jury of eight men and four women.

The defendant faces a maximum sentence of three years in prison and a $5,000 fine if convicted.
